

Senate Reverses Self on Plan to Boost Surtaxes

Administration Forces Beat Off LaFollette Proposals

SURPRISE ACTION

Nuisance Tax Extension Approved Earlier During Day

Washington—(U)—Administration forces, rallying quickly, succeeded today in beating a move to increase personal income surtaxes after the senate had once approved it.

An amendment by Senator LaFollette (D-Wis.) to raise surtaxes on incomes above $6,000 was finally rejected after once being approved, 35-31.

The motion to reconsider was made by Senator Truman (D-Mo.). Adoption of the amendment to the nuisance tax bill earlier in the day had taken leaders by surprise.

The vote on Truman's motion was 41 to 29.

LaFollette offered the proposal as an amendment to the administration's "nuisance tax" extension bill, which would continue a host of miscellaneous excise levies for two years.

The senate quickly went on to consider another LaFollette amendment to cut personal income tax exemptions from $2,500 to $2,000 for married persons and from $1,000 to $800 for single persons.

After pleas for delay from Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the finance committee and Senator Connally (D-Texas) the proposal to cut personal exemptions was rejected without a record vote.

The increase in surtaxes, which would not affect married persons with incomes under $6,000, would raise an estimated $278,000,000 additional revenue annually.

The Wisconsin senator argued that an immediate broadening of the tax base was necessary, because "I don't believe the budget can ever be balanced by reduction of expenditures."

Fleets for Support

He termed his income increase plan "a long step toward balancing the budget" by "taxing those who are able to pay," and pleaded for support from "every senator who says he favors a speedy balance of federal revenue and expenditure."

The LaFollette amendment would raise the surtax on $6,000 incomes of married persons without dependents from $116 to $136; on $10,000 incomes from $415 to $540; on $100,000 incomes from $22,469 to $37,534; and on $1,000,000 incomes from $679,044 to $864,124.

LaFollette noted that the tax on $6,000 incomes in Great Britain is nearly ten times as large as the sum he proposed.

Before acting on the LaFollette amendment the senate voted to extend the nuisance taxes and the 3 cent postage rate for two years instead of one.

The house had voted a two-year extension, but the senate finance committee recommended an extension of only one year for the postal and tax rates estimated to yield $650,000,000 annually.

Vandenberg Objects

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) opposed the longer extension, asserting the finance committee had voted unanimously for only one year because it did not have time to hold hearings.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) said hearings had been held on all the taxes in previous years. He personally favored a two-year extension, but said he was embarrassed by his committee vote.

The senate vote was 50 to 26.

Taxes involved include those on gasoline, electric energy, lubricating oil, telephone and telephone communication, toilet preparations and many other selected items.

Gets Sentence of Year In Fatal Accident Case

Madison—(U)—Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis sentenced Elwin Fagan, 20, Madison, to a year in the state reformatory at Green Bay last yesterday on a charge of fourth degree manslaughter based on the death of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lucille Fagan, 23 in an automobile accident April 26.

NOT IDENTIFIED

Chicago—(U)—Hopes of solving the mysterious slaying of Audrey Vallette, blonde party girl, wanted today after witnesses failed to pick Mrs. Ruth Freed (above) out of a police showup.

Four persons saw a woman dash from a north side hotel immediately after the hard drinking habits of the night spots was slain July 2. At the showup they said they were not sure Mrs. Freed was the woman.

Badger Senate Gives Approval To Revenue Bill

Votes 31 to 1 to Send Bill To Assembly for Concurrence

Madison—(U)—The administration revenue measure, re-enacting present taxes, passed the senate today, 31 to 1, and went to the assembly for concurrence.

The only vote against the Nelson-Rush high school aid bill, to which Progressive senators had attached the tax feature, was cast by Senator Morvin Duell (R), Fond du Lac.

The tax "rider" renews the 60 per cent surtax on incomes and the 21 per cent privileges tax upon corporate dividends, but creates no new levies.

Under the high school aid provision to the bill, the state will pay $200 for each year of high school taught from an appropriation of $1,236,250 a year. Any balance remaining after the flat payment to the school will be pro-rated on the basis of the number of pupils.

Senator Frank Panzer (P), Oshkosh, who introduced the tax "rider," said it would raise between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000 a year.

Three senators declared during debate over the measure today that the revenue would be insufficient to care for the state's budget need.

Senator E. J. Roethel (R), Fennimore, said, "I am satisfied there will not be sufficient funds from the taxes now imposed to balance the budget."

Rail Pension Bill Goes to President

Quick Approval Expected For Revised Retirement Measure

Washington—(U)—Revised railroad retirement legislation required only President Roosevelt's signature today to become law.

Murray W. Latimer, chairman of the railroad retirement board, said it would be put into effect immediately.

The Wagner-Crosser bill, revising the 1935 retirement act, went through the senate without opposition yesterday, after a single vote had been cast against it in the house.

Proponents said quick presidential approval was assured.

Motor Funds Diversion Hit In Assembly

Lower House Refuses to Let State Use Money For General Purposes

BILL IS ADVANCED

Little Hope for Passage of Measure Before Sine Die Adjournment

Madison—(U)—After a bitter, two hour fight, the assembly voted today to prevent the state government using for general operating purposes any part of the motor vehicle revenues to be paid to the state highway commission for road construction.

Assemblyman Francis A. Yindra, (D), Manitowish, co-author of the anti-diversion bill, charged the LaFollette administration plans to use an increase in highway revenues during the next two years to balance the general operating budget.

By a vote of 50 to 45 the house ordered the Yindra-Rice bill to third reading, but there was scant hope that it would be approved by both houses if the legislature adjourns sine die July 12.

Assemblyman Tom Lomsdahl (P), Osseo, moved reconsideration of the engrossment vote which will postpone further action until next week.

The bill applies only to that portion of high revenues remaining after county and local aids required by statute are paid. The excess ordinarily goes to the highway commission to be spent on state roads.

Segregated Fund

The measure provides that any part of the commission's fund not put under contract for new roads shall be placed in a segregated fund that cannot be touched for other purposes.

Yindra claimed that Governor LaFollette's financial secretary, Thomas M. Duncan, told the finance committee he did not want the bill passed in its present form because it would interfere with the budget arrangements.

Assemblyman David Sigman (P), Two Rivers, contended his colleague from Manitowish county was inspired by politics when he introduced his plan. Sigman said three men whom he had defeated in the last election induced the Manitowish county board to go on record for the Yindra bill at the author's request.

In its original form the measure provided that no highway funds, whether county, local or state could be borrowed, even temporarily for other state purposes. A substitute by Yindra, which was adopted and became the bill, applied only to the funds controlled directly by the state highway commission.

Drunken Driver Is Fined $50, Costs Arnold Rusch, Route 2, Appleton, Changes Plea In Municipal Court

Arnold Rusch, 29, route 2, Appleton, was fined $50 and costs in municipal court Wednesday by Judge Thomas H. Ryan when he pleaded guilty of drunk driving.

Rusch was arraigned in court last Monday morning, but pleaded not guilty and the case was adjourned to Wednesday morning.

He changed his plea and was given the fine with an alternative of 60 days in the county detention camp.

Rusch was arrested by Appleton police, who said he was driving in an erratic manner at 1:30 Sunday morning on N. Richmond street. He was examined by the city physician before police made the charge.

Judge Ryan also recommended the revocation of Rusch's driver's license for one year.

Interim Group Is Urged For Consolidation Plan

Aid to Northern Areas Before Senate Friday

Madison—(U)—Bills to appropriate money payment of direct relief aids to 28 northern counties will be considered by the senate tomorrow morning.

The senators voted last night to take up at the same time the bill of Senator Philip Nelson (R), Maple, calling for a $750,000 appropriation, and the $1,000,000 bill passed by the assembly.

An assembly bill rewriting the state minimum wage law for women and minors, changing the wording to "a living wage" and providing for appointment of an advisory wage board to assist the industrial committee in arriving at any new wage schedules, received senate approval last night.

Bills killed by the senate included the Rissler bill to grant single persons an exemption of 30 per cent of their wages from garnishment, and an assembly bill directing the University of Wisconsin board of regents to hold its meetings in a room adequate to accommodate spectators.

Seize Big Still In Raid on Farm In Kenosha County

Four Men are Arrested by State Treasury Agents And Sheriff

Kenosha—(U)—Four men were seized last night in a raid on a still which was described by state agents as one of the largest ever uncovered in Wisconsin.

Members of the Kenosha sheriff's department and state beverage tax division agents staged the raid.

Sam Woldenberg, Madison, beverage division chief of enforcement, said the still, in the process of construction, would have been capable of producing 3,000 gallons of alcohol a day.

Woldenberg said it was located on a heavily wooded section of the George Jensen farm, on County Trunk D between Silver Lake and Bassett, about 24 miles from here.

Three men were seized at the scene of the partially constructed still, camouflaged with green paint and green canvas tarpaulins to blend with the heavy foliage surrounding it.

Sheriff Leo Schend said they gave their names as James O'Hara, 26, John Bulo, 49 and Frank Morris, 40, all of Chicago. A fourth man escaped.

Two Illinois Trucks

Woldenberg said that after the agents seized the three, two trucks with Illinois license plates drove up bearing parts which would have completed the still. One of the drivers escaped. The other, Woldenberg stated, refused to give his name.

Jensen, owner of the farm on which the still was located, was ordered to appear for questioning today. No charges were placed against him or the four held in custody.

Tax division agents described the alcohol plant as including five vats of 16,000 gallons capacity each; two 12-foot boilers, and more than a truckload of copper lined tubing and columns, much of it three feet in diameter.

Two 18-foot columns had been erected, the bases of each 18 feet above the ground in a 40-foot trench covered with green tarpaulins. At the top was a lookout station. Two pipe lines, buried in shallow trenches, stretched 800 feet away to a spring.

Woldenberg and Sheriff Schend said the still was the largest they had ever seen and would have been ready for operation in a short time. They said the raid was made on a tip sent to the beverage tax department.

LaCrosse Man Named to Public Service Group

Madison—(U)—Governor LaFollette sent to the senate for confirmation today the appointment of R. Floyd Green of LaCrosse to the public service commission.

Britain Tries To Bring End To New Crisis

London Prepares to Resist Any Aggressive Act By Germany

FRANCE ALSO MOVES

Matches Reich Show of Naval Force in Mediterranean Area

(By The Associated Press)

British officialdom worked hard to calm excited talk in the newest Spanish-international crisis today.

But London let Berlin know that any aggressive act by the reich's massing men of war in Spanish waters would be looked upon "most seriously" by his majesty's government.

France matched the German show of force. A French warship fleet anchored at Bone, Algeria, due south of Italy's Mediterranean island of Sardinia, after secret night maneuvers.

In spite of the tension, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden urged the house of commons to accept with "great reserve" any excited reports of German naval movements after Italy-German withdrawal from Europe's "hands off Spain" patrol.

The Spanish government freighter or Trinidad was sunk in the high seas off Port Vendres, France, today by the insurgent cruiser Baleares.

Crew Captured

The freighter's crew attempted to flee in a lifeboat but the Baleares put over a small boat, captured them at pistol point and took them aboard the warship.

The Baleares' eight-inch guns sent the Trinidad to the bottom in a few minutes.

The Trinidad, a small ship with a crew of only seven men, was accompanied by another Spanish government vessel, the Carmelita, which escaped into French territorial waters.

German and Italian warships patrolled the coast of Spain on their own initiative today, their commanders acting in apparent concert.

Italian vessels were under orders to strike back immediately at any "attack" from the Spanish government. The German battle fleet, about to be reinforced by the pocket battleship Graf Spee, was told to "protect German interests."

Uneasy fear still pervaded Britain that the joint Italian-German withdrawal from the non-intervention patrol intended to isolate the Spanish war was the forerunner of an

Series of Charges Keep Man in Court All Day

Madison—(U)—Arrests by authorities of three counties kept Phil Emordeno, 26, away from business and in arraignment proceedings practically all day yesterday.

After being arraigned in Juneau, Dodge county, on a charge of swindling a farmer out of $300 in a card game, Emordeno was arrested by Sheriff Harry O'Brien of Jefferson county on a warrant charging operation of a confidence game. He gave bail of $1,000 at Juneau.

Previously, Emordeno had been arraigned in a Madison court on a charge of vagrancy, which also cost him $1,000 bail. Late yesterday Emordeno was seized and arraigned here on a charge of violating the state liquor laws. He paid another $1,000 bond.

Tony Cuccia, an occupant of Emordeno's car at the time he was arrested on the liquor charge, was arrested for possession of untaxed liquor and is under $500 bond. Ray Talbot, operator of the Burr Oaks tavern, is also under arrest, charged with complicity in the Dodge county case.

C. I. O. Organizer Asks Followers to Abandon General Strike Plans

Threat Results From Use Of Troops to Guard Non-Strikers

PLANTS OPERATING

Police Reserves Protect Workers Returning To Plants

Cleveland—(U)—Officials of four steel companies whose plants are strike-bound issued a statement today saying they understood today's conference with federal mediators was the "final conference."

The board, headed by Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, also was preparing a statement.

Warren, Ohio—(U)—Announcement that martial law would be lifted at 7 o'clock a. m. tomorrow in one sector of the steel strike was made today as another back to work movement started in the Mahoning valley of Ohio.

Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania said the troops would leave Johnstown, Pa. home of the Cambria works of Bethlehem Steel. They were sent in to preserve order after a strike was called at the mills over refusal of Bethlehem to sign labor contracts with the Steel workers Organizing Committee.

Warren, Ohio—(U)—John McKee, C. I. O. organizer, said today he had advised his unionists to abandon plans for a general industrial strike.

The walkout was threatened by C. I. O. leaders who, piqued at use of national guardsmen in defense of non-striker's entering and leaving Republic Steel Corp.'s plant, had said 15,000 workmen would be out in protest.

McKee said all plants in Warren were operating this morning except Brainard Steel Co. and the Van Huelst Tube Co. These, he estimated, employ about 500 men.

Officials of the Sunlight Electric Co., a General Motors unit which C. I. O. employees were among those walking out late yesterday in several local factories, said normal operations had been resumed. Sunlight employs about 850 persons.

No Limit on Workers

Asked whether the mill force was being increased, an official of the Warren Republic plant said there was no agreement or legal order to limit the number of men who may return to their jobs.

"Judge Lynn B. Griffith in his (civil) court order Monday limiting picketing provided for free access to the plant by all men who wanted to work," the official declared.

C. R. Wheeler, assistant district manager, said 2,500 of a normal force of 6,500 were on the job and that all departments were operating except the hot mill.

The general strike threat was abandoned after police reserves were ordered out to protect non-striker's entering the Republic Steel Corp. plant.

Stones were hurled at several of the 100 to 200 automobiles, carrying one to five men each, as they drove

Parkers Guilty in Kidnaping Case

Jury Recommendation of Leniency to Have 'Great Weight' With Judge

Newark, N. J.—(U)—Another complex sequel to the Lindbergh kidnaping drew to a close today as Elsie Parker, 37, colorful "country detective," and his son, Elmer, Jr., awaited sentence for plotting the kidnaping of Paul H. Wendel.

The two men were convicted last night by a federal jury of conspiracy to seize and torture Wendel to obtain a false confession to the kidnaping of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. This "confession" 15 months ago delayed for three days the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the Lindbergh crime.

The Parkers were liable to sentences of one day to 160 years. The jury, which deliberated for 61 hours on the nine weeks of testimony, recommended leniency, and Judge William Clark said the recommendation would have "great weight" with him. A suspended sentence was possible. Next Wednesday was set tentatively for sentencing.

RECOVERING

Washington—(U)—John Robertson, secretary to Senator Norris (above) of Nebraska said today he was informed the 75-year-old independent rested comfortably at Naval hospital last night. He added the senator was continuing to improve from an attack of indigestion suffered earlier in the week.

President Will Confer Tomorrow With Followers

Series of Conferences to Open as Debate Nears On Court Plan

Washington—(U)—"Harmony" conferences between President Roosevelt and Democrats in congress will begin tomorrow, almost on the eve of senate debate over a measure which has divided party ranks—the court reorganization bill.

Majority Leader Robinson (D-Ark.) announced last night that the senate probably would take up the court bill next week after passage of appropriation measures required by July 1.

Most of the bills foes will be present at the three-day series of party meetings on secluded Jefferson island in Chesapeake bay.

Among them will be Senators Wheeler of Montana, leader of the senate opposition; Van Nuys of Indiana, Bailey of North Carolina, and such outspoken house opponents as Representatives Cox of Georgia and Lamneck of Ohio.

Split into 3 Groups

Best estimates from those in charge of the affair were that about 300 representatives and more than 60 senators would be present. They will be divided into three groups for Friday, Saturday and Sunday sessions.

Congressional leaders said chances were good for enacting at this session crop insurance for wheat, combined with the "ever-normal granary" system. The senate already has passed an insurance bill to allow farmers to pay premiums of wheat in good years and get indemnities in bad years.

The senate labor committee began behind closed doors today its discussion of the wage and hour proposal. Members who have been hearing testimony for three weeks agreed the greatest question is: How much discretion shall be left to a labor standards board?

Approve Army Funds.

The senate passed the largest army appropriation in peace time—$662,000,000. Senator Frazier (R-N.D.) declared the fund was "not for defense but for war." The house and senate bills must be brought into accord.

A predominant subject of conversation at the capital was the declaration of Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania for President Roosevelt's reelection in 1940.

Some Democratic congressmen expressed agreement while others interpreted a sentence in the Roosevelt's "Victory" column, reported last March to mean he would not accept a third term.

The president himself said: "I have conferred yesterday afternoon and evening with Premier Paul van Zeeland of Belgium on world economic affairs."

Injunction Is Issued In Strike at Wan-sau

Wan-sau—(U)—Circuit Judge H. H. Redwood issued an injunction today restraining A. F. of L. members from interfering with the operation of a Wan-sau Electric Manufacturing corporation.

He also issued an injunction restraining C. I. O. union members from the plant from using threats to get A. F. of L. members to join the C. I. O. The A. F. of L. workers charged intimidation.

Girdler and Senator Guffey in Clash at Inquiry

EXCHANGE CHARGES

Republic Steel Head Denies Jones-Laughlin Ousted Him

Washington—(U)—The accusation was made and immediately denied at a senate committee hearing today that Tom Girdler was asked to resign as head of the Jones-Laughlin Steel corporation for a breach of confidence.

The accuser was Senator Guffey (D-Pa.), who said it was "common talk in Pittsburgh" that Girdler was asked to get out of Jones-Laughlin "because you gave confidential information of your company to the company you are now with."

Girdler—now chairman of the Republic Steel corporation—was in the senate post office committee witness chair testifying as to strikes in Republic plants.

He shouted:

"That's a lie and whoever told you that was a liar."

Guffey spoke of Girdler's transfer from one company to the other in response to the latter's comment that "Senator Guffey doesn't know what he's talking about."

Guffey's Charge

"You were talking about irresponsible union officials," Guffey said. "Maybe that's one reason your employees don't want a verbal agreement with you, feeling that if you would give confidential information you aren't responsible either."

Girdler protested the question wasn't "decent." He pointed out that Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn.) had reproved him for his statement about Guffey.

"If the chairman will remove the ban, I'd like to answer that as it ought to be answered," Girdler said. Girdler called Philip Murray, Steel Workers' Organizing Committee head, a "liar" and said Guffey "doesn't know what he is talking about" regarding present steel strike issues.

Both comments were in reply to a question by Senator Bridges (R-Vt.) whether Murray's statement was true that the only issue was the question of reducing an oral agreement to writing.

Bridges said Senator Guffey had suggested the same thing at an earlier meeting of the committee.

"Mr. Murray is a liar to the best of my knowledge and belief and always has been," Girdler-snapped in reply. "Senator Guffey doesn't know what he's talking about."

Resents Remark

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn.) immediately asked Girdler to withdraw his remark about Guffey, asserting that "senators are entitled to respectful speech by all witnesses."

Guffey remained silent.

Girdler, who is not a member of the committee but who arose to assert, "It's all right with me if I can have the privilege of asking the witness a few questions after the others are through."

Girdler's caustic answer came immediately after he had finished reading a prepared statement in which he told the committee the basic issue of the steel strike is the right of American citizens to work free from molestation by a labor organization whose apparent policy is either to rule or ruin American industry.

Pictures of Weapons

Denying charges of lawlessness made against the steel companies last week by Murray, head of the committee, Girdler spoke pictures of weapons, including dynamite and other weapons which he said Ohio sheriffs had seized from strike pickets.

Girdler declared that the unionists had been paid "for the day" by the C. I. O. in payment for the pictures of the weapons. He said, "I am a responsible citizen and any citizen who is responsible for the pictures of the weapons is a traitor to the American people."

Mattern tried to fly solo around the world in 1933 but crashed in central Siberia.

He said his projected trans-polar flight called for refueling in the air probably over Fairbanks, Alaska.

Date of the attempted flight will be set as soon as weather will permit and plans for it are approved by the soviet officials at Moscow, Mattern declared.

Tree Shortage Slows

Reforestation Project

Missoula, Mont.—(AP)—Anyone who has attempted to transplant a mountain pine tree will sympathize with the federal forest service's Savenac nurserymen, raising and planting 10,000,000 trees annually for the northern Rocky Mountain region.

So sensitive are the trees that sometimes slight changes in temperature will kill them. They are susceptible to a variety of diseases. Disastrous forest fires have denuded large areas and there are now 170,000 acres in need of planting. A year's output from the nursery will plant 11,750 acres, so it has at least a 15-year job ahead.

Firemen Have Exciting Week Without Blazes

Weatherford, Okla.—(AP)—Weatherford's volunteer firemen had an exciting week even though they didn't fight any flames. First, a false alarm sent them hunting over town for a blaze.

Then they made a run to the other side of town, only to incur the wrath of a citizen who saw a crowd of fire-fighters storm after the firemen over his rose flower beds and shrubbery. The firemen were nervous neighbor had misjudged his center over a trash fire.

The third time the alarm sounded there really was a fire—a bird's nest, built too close to an electric wire.

WHEN DO MEN GO BACK TO WORK?

Leo Oswald (left), a steel worker at Johnstown, Pa., posed the question in the minds of 100,000 steel workers in seven states "When do we go back to work?" Frank Howells (right), open hearth superintendent, and a state policeman were unable to give an answer, however. The Steel Workers Organizing committee, which called the strike insists that the companies must sign union contracts, while the steel companies refuse.

Entomologist Says Pests are More Troublesome in State This Year

Madison — Ants and aphids are more troublesome in Wisconsin this year than in many seasons, according to reports received by E. L. Chambers, state entomologist of the department of agriculture and markets.

Chambers said today that the department is being besieged by inquiries as to methods of controlling these pests. Complaints of the extensive prevalence of aphids in fruit trees, shade trees, and rose bushes have been pouring in, he said, along with a deluge of requests from housewives and home owners for information that would be helpful in ridding homes, lawns, and gardens of the very annoying presence of ants.

Natural Allies. The two species of insects are natural allies, Chambers explained, with ants being the guardians of aphids. The ants herd the aphids in galleries they have opened around them.

Mailing Room Workers

Spurn Compromise Plan

Pittsburgh—(AP)—Striking mailing room employees of the three Pittsburgh newspapers voted against a compromise settlement of their three-day walkout today. The vote was 103 to 4. The strike forced suspension of publication by the newspapers Tuesday.

The compromise proposal was offered at a mediation conference at which Mayor Cornelius D. Scully presided.

The compromise called for a daily wage of $7.50 for day workers and $7.85 for night workers. The present wage is $6.80 for day workers and $7 for night men. The mailers, in their strike demands, asked an increase of $1.20 daily for day workers and $1.50 for night workers.

Order Passenger Service Stopped On Mixed Trains

Small Patronage Reason For Ruling Against Two Railroad Companies

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau. Madison—Because of small revenues and an equally small patronage, the Appleton and Western, and the Kewaunee, Green Bay and Western railroads, subsidiaries of the Green Bay and Western, were today authorized to discontinue passenger service on mixed trains.

The two roads, however, were ordered to continue the weekend sleeping car service for tourists to Door and Kewaunee counties during the present tourist season by the state public service commission. Investigation by the commission revealed that the bulk of the passenger traffic is via the special train weekend sleeping car service.

Two bus lines provide passenger service in the two counties in addition to the service hitherto given by the railroads, the commission said.

Operations of the Kewaunee road are from Kewaunee to Green Bay, 36.7 miles. Connection with the Appleton is made at Casco Junction 14 miles west of Kewaunee. The Appleton then has lines extending 34 miles north to Sturgeon Bay.

The commission's order stipulated that the abandonment of the passenger service must be announced by the railroads at least 10 days before it goes into effect.

The two lines furnish the only rail transportation service in Door and Kewaunee counties, which together form the Door county peninsula, famous as a summer resort and cherry growing region, the commission's order said.

Youth Congress Gets Use of Auditorium

Madison—(AP)—Officials of the National Youth congress said today they had been granted permission to use the Milwaukee auditorium for the opening sessions of a national convention July 2. They said permission had been granted by David B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers. The brotherhood holds six weeks lease on the auditorium as its convention headquarters.

The congress continued to protest a refusal by U. F. Durner, receiver for the Eagles club here, to permit youth delegates to meet at the clubhouse. Durner said an Eagles' rule barred Negroes from the Eagles' auditorium. About 200 of the expected 3,000 will be Negroes, congress officials said.

Joseph Caiden, national secretary of the congress, sent a telegram to William F. Leistikow, president of the State Fraternal Order of Eagles, urging him to repudiate such "discriminatory action against Americans."

Cherry and Rubin Show

Drawing Large Crowds

The hundreds of entertainment seekers who thronged the midway of the Rubin and Cherry show last evening on Highway 41 were amply repaid for their time and money with the big new rides and shows. Among the new features that attracted attention were Casino de Paree, the Rumba Show, Cotton Club parade and the big circus side show. The thrill-seekers seemed to go big for the twin loop planes and the laughter indicated value received. The Rubin and Cherry Exposition will show again tonight and the remainder of the week.

Plan Three Kid Parades For Fourth of July Picnic

Appleton kids will be given a chance to display their ingenuity and originality in three events of the extensive 3-day civic Fourth of July celebration to be staged by the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce at Erb park, July 3, 4 and 5.

A decorated bicycle contest will be held at 1:30 Saturday afternoon; in connection with the mammoth opening parade on College avenue a coaster wagon parade at 3:30 Sunday afternoon; a doll buggy parade at 2:30 Monday afternoon.

About 400 children are expected to compete in the bicycle parade. Prizes will be awarded by Schlafer Hardware company for the best decorated bicycle and rider, for the best stunt rider and the funniest costumes. Caps will be given each entrant and entry blanks may be secured at Schlafer Hardware store.

Entry blanks for the coaster wagon competition will be available at the Firestone Auto Supply and Service station, 700 W. College avenue, beginning Monday, June 28, and registration blanks for the doll buggy event will be available at Geegen's, 122 E. College avenue, starting next week.

The prizes will be awarded upon the basis of originality and appearance and there are no age divisions. Every child will receive a prize with grand prizes for the first three winners in each event.

Warren Terrien and Jerry Harder are co-chairmen of the committee directing the decorated doll buggy and decorated coaster wagon parade and are being assisted by Gordon Vandeveld, Volney Vurgess and Robert Nehls.

5 Measures Receive LaFollette Approval

Madison — (AP)—Governor LaFollette has signed a bill compelling 35 employees of the Wisconsin Home and Farm Credit administration to take civil service examinations if they want to keep their jobs. The bill extends the administration for two more years. Other bills he signed were:

Assembly bill giving veterans who apply for competitive civil service examinations five points.

Committee bill setting milk fat content in water-free substance in Swiss cheese at not lower than 43 per cent and allowing a 2 per cent tolerance.

Committee bill requiring surplus bank funds to be 50 per cent of capital stock except when daily average of aggregate deposits over one year period shall be less than 10 times the unimpaired capital and surplus.

Committee bill creating an interstate cooperation commission of three senators, three assemblymen, and three state officials.

Change Filing System Of Credit Exchange

Changing of the files of the credit exchange of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce is about a fourth completed. The files are being changed to a new system which provides larger information cards. The work will be completed within the next two months.

Announce Rate Reductions by Four Companies

New Schedule Will Benefit 104,000 Home Electric Users

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau. Madison—Home electric users in Brown, Winnebago, Marinette, Oconto, Calumet, and Waupaca county will be among the 104,000 Wisconsin users to benefit from the $300,000 yearly rate reductions of four Wisconsin electric utilities ordered by the Wisconsin public service commission yesterday.

Companies affected are the Wisconsin Power and Light company, Wisconsin Public Service corporation, Menominee and Marinette Light and Traction company, and the Lake Superior District Power company, operating in central, northeastern and northwestern Wisconsin.

Reductions for the first three companies resulted from agreement after negotiations for the utilities to adopt a bargain rate schedule, previously available as a bonus only to customers sufficiently increasing their consumption, as the regular schedule for all customers.

Of the $34,300 reduction by the Wisconsin Public Service corporation and its subsidiary, the Menominee and Marinette company, Green Bay will get $23,000; Oshkosh, $20,000; Marinette $5,600; Oconto $2,350; De Pere $2,700; Brillion $750; Wausau $2,800; Chilton $1,350; Peshtigo, $900; and Waupaca $950.

Dam Building Permits

Get Commission's O. K.

Madison—(AP)—The public service commission today granted water diversion and dam building permits affecting Milwaukee, Marinette, Chippewa and Sawyer counties. Sawyer county may divert water from the north fork of the Chippewa river to maintain normal elevation of Round Lake and also may build a dam on the Brunet river near Winter to create a pond of 519 acres for recreational and water conservation purposes.

The commission authorized Milwaukee county to build an Estabrook park dam for flood control and recreational purposes, creating a 103-acre lake.

Marinette county may build a dam on the Little Peshtigo river nearly four miles from Coleman to restore an old logging dam flowage and pond of 500 acres for recreational and conservation purposes. Chippewa county received a permit to build a dam across the outlet of Long lake near Bloomer to replace an inadequate dam and to raise the lake about six inches.

Construction Work Is Progressing on Avenue

Pouring of concrete for the new curbing and gutter on College avenue between Oneida and Appleton streets was started this morning by WPA workmen. To date new curbing and gutter has been laid from Drew street to Oneida street. Work crews will be idle during the first two weeks of July as a result of doubling up work crews recently to complete time for the work period by the end of the month which ends the fiscal year.

Building Permits

Only one building permit was issued yesterday by the building inspection department. It was to Chester Sewall, 506 E. Randall street, enlarge garage, $50.

Mrs. J. T. O'Connor of Chicago is visiting with Police Chief and Mrs. George T. Prim.

Neutral Policy Would Help End Strike: Lawrence

Sees Hopeful Sign in Cummings' Order for Arrest of Pickets

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—The first ray of light in the strike crisis has come in the action of Attorney General Cummings in ordering the arrest of pickets who interfered with the delivery of the mails in Ohio.

This evidence of an intention to enforce the law irrespective of whether it touched unions or employers is the most salutary thing that has happened in a long while.

Last week this correspondent quoted the statute showing that there is a responsibility on the president and the attorney general to detect and arrest the individuals who have been tampering with the mails. The department of justice, to its credit be it said, now has acted on that statute.

There are other statutes which need enforcement, too, as, for instance, the federal laws which make the leaders of the proposed general strike in Warren, Ohio, liable for engaging in a conspiracy to tie up points engaged in interstate commerce. Under the definition of interstate commerce laid down by the Supreme Court of the United States in upholding the Wagner law recently, a general strike is an unlawful act because the activities of the strike leaders constitute a restraint of trade. The evidence of the intent to paralyze interstate commerce is to be found in the newspaper statements by the strike leaders themselves.

Can Assure Peace
If the Roosevelt administration now will invoke all the federal statutes which have been violated in the strike, peace will come as an inevitable result.

As a matter of fact, the unlimited right to strike has been abused by the C.I.O. and the issue raised by the steel companies may have a profound effect on the whole future of labor relations.

The principle involved is a simple one. For years the peace-loving citizens of the United States have not only deplored international war but have by treaty and every other way signified their adherence to the idea that there must be a period of nine months for the investigation of controversies before there is resort to war.

The same reasoning applies to domestic peace. Instead of permitting strikes to be called without notice and without submitting grievances to recognized tribunals or grievance committees, the C.I.O. unions have staged "sit-down" strikes and other interruptions or stoppages of work. They have resorted to violence without giving an opportunity for mediation or cooling off. They have violated written agreements pledging their men to use grievance committee machinery before engaging in a strike.

If, therefore, labor unions are compelled by law to use the avenues of mediation tribunals or grievance committees before resorting to strikes, an advance will have been made. This unquestionably is the view of neutral opinion today throughout America.

Right To Work

The spectacle of the great state of Ohio unable through its governor to protect men in their right to work constitutes a sad chapter in American history, but a much worse situation arises when the responsibility of the president of the United States for the maintenance of the privileges and immunities of the citizens is considered. The federal constitution guarantees protection to the citizen irrespective of whether state officers are derelict in their duty.

The tragedy, however, is not written so much in the formal statements of the mediation board appointed by the president. It is to be found in the letters being written by the innocent bystanders, the women of the state of Ohio, whose homes are being subjected to a reign of terror by C.I.O. agents who beseege homes as well as plants and threaten violence. Let a woman in Warren, Ohio, tell the story to the public as she wrote it to me the other day:

Alarmed For Safety
"I am an unimportant home-maker and home owner in the beautiful little city of Warren, Ohio. Before May 29 our citizens were happy and prosperous, but now the C.I.O. has strike-bound our main industry. We are terror-stricken for our physical safety and thoroughly alarmed over the future of the working man who wants to choose for himself and live as he thinks best."

"My husband, along with 2,800 men, has been prevented from coming to his home after work for three weeks, just because a mob of C.I.O. organizers demand he shall join a union he doesn't want to join."

"Our law-enforcing bodies have practically broken down. The judges postpone decisions and our parcels addressed to the steel corporation have been molested. For proof of this, I have a box of clothing accepted at the post office bearing postage and a 25-cent special delivery stamp but returned to me undelivered."

One hesitates to give the signature of this letter for fear that she may be subjected to harm.

What interests me about the communication is that a woman has been trying to send supplies to her husband who has not been given the protection of the state to reach his own home at night and the federal government refuses to furnish the protection to the mails whereby supplies can be delivered to him. It is true that the supplies are "unusual" mail, as Postmaster General Farley describes it, but what is more unusual is that the workman has lost the protection now of both the federal and state governments in his right to work at his job. Certainly the conditions surrounding the delivery of mail are unusual, but so are the circumstances whereby one group of workmen are permitted with the help of the state militia to keep a plant from being operated by the men who really want to go back to work.

Difficultly Grows

Every day that the federal and state law enforcement agencies are derelict in their duty adds to the difficulty of settling the strike by peaceable means and especially puts a greater handicap before the mediation board which seeks to find a solution.

The steel companies say the C.I.O. union are irresponsible and will not honor a contract. They point to the experience of General Motors, where, after a contract was signed, strikes continued just the same without warning.

Under such circumstances if the steel companies refuse to sign with the C.I.O., the only course left is for the mediation board to invite the steel companies to sign a contract with the courts of the United States and to require the C.I.O. unions to do likewise. A three-cornered contract, with the courts as the custodian, is somewhat the same as a consent decree, but in this instance the court could require the C.I.O. unions as well as the employers to post bonds and agree to civil suit in case of proved violation.

There are plenty of ways to settle the strike if the governor of Ohio and the president of the United States really wish to adopt a neutral instead of a partisan attitude toward law enforcement. This alone would develop a sense of responsibility on the part of labor unions. (Copyright, 1937)

82 Persons Die In State Traffic Accidents in May

State's Toll Is Same Last Month as in Corresponding Period of 1936

Final tabulations for May show that 82 persons met death in traffic accidents in Wisconsin, the State Highway Commission reports. Preliminary estimates had set the figure at 71, but the final total is exactly the same as the May, 1936 death toll.

Outagamie county had 11 serious accidents reported to the State Highway Commission in the last month, with 2 fatalities, 11 injuries and 1 accident in which property damage only was reported.

For the first five months of 1937, Outagamie county had 13 fatalities, state records show.

Of the 82 killed in May accidents, 26 were pedestrians, or 31.7 per cent. This is a slight decrease in percentages over past months, for over one-third of those killed in the early months of 1937 were pedestrians.

Traffic violations caused 420 accidents in the state last month, and have been responsible for 1,253 accidents so far this year. In addition, during May there were 17 drunken drivers, three drunken pedestrians and 25 defective automobiles, all responsible for accidents, State Highway Commission reports indicate. Skids and blowouts were blamed for 40 accidents last month.

Highway Safety Bill

Passed by Legislature

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau—Under the prodding of Senator John E. Cashman of Denmark, the Wisconsin senate yesterday agreed to suspend the rules for immediate passage of a resolution by Assemblyman Mark Catlin which would direct traffic officers to enforce the state laws on highway safety.

The measure will now go to the governor for signature. Calling attention to the fact that present safety laws are not adequately enforced, the resolution met no opposition in either house of the legislature.

The WORLD of STAMPS

BY QUINTON JAMES

Holland's cultural relief issue for this summer brings into the philatelic spotlight the lives of four great men in that nation who did interesting things in the 17th and 18th centuries.

Values are: 14-cent gray brown (Maris); 5-cent gray green (Sylvius);

6-cent violet brown (Vondel); 12-cent dull blue (Leeuwenhoek).

Jacob Maris (1837-99) was a painter famous for his landscapes. He painted bridges and windmills, old quays, massive towers and level banks, water, misty skies and rolling clouds. Born in The Hague, he worked mainly in Holland, though he studied at Antwerp and Paris. In all his oils, water-colors and etchings, the subject is subordinate to the effect.

Franciscus De le Boe Sylvius (1614-72) was a physician, clinical teacher and close student of chemistry and anatomy. He described parts of the brain so vividly and accurately that his name became identified with four portions of the nervous system.

Born of French parents in Hanau, Germany, he studied in several universities, took his medical degree in Basle and settled in practice in Amsterdam. He joined the University of Leyden faculty at 44 as professor of medicine and was highly successful there as lecturer, teacher, investigator and practitioner. Joost Van Den Vondel (1587-1679) was a poet and dramatist. Though he was born in Dordrecht, where his father was temporarily in exile because of religious opinions, his home was Amsterdam from the age of 10 on. Vondel had a long, brilliant literary career, writing 32 dramas. He also wrote satires against the Calvinists and eventually became a Catholic. Antoni Van Leeuwenhoek (1632-1723) was a shopkeeper in Delft whom the world remembers because he tinkered with lenses. He made microscopes and used them with passionate interest to study minute organisms and structures. He found "wretched beasties" in the rain water which were "a thousand times smaller than the eye of a large louse." He gave the first accurate description of the red blood corpuscles, investigated the structure of teeth, muscle and yeast. The first drawing of bacteria ever published (1683) was by Leeuwenhoek.

High Water Group to Hold Meet at Oshkosh

Information concerning city tourist facilities for the Wisconsin edition of the American Guide which will be published under a WPA project is asked in a letter received by Mayor Goodland from J. J. Lyons, Madison. At the present time the city has no tourist camp and grounds.

A PRAETOR TURNS HIS THUMB DOWN

Because Governor Earle has been treated to harsh criticism in that he assumed the position of a tyrant over certain parts of Pennsylvania and then directed his supreme power in favor of his political crony Lewis and against the interests of lawabiding people, the welking is bound to ring in his favor since he has just made a ruling showing that he is not all anarchist.

And by that very ruling, though unintentionally, he gives us another sweet sample of the tyrant in full flower. For, make no mistake about it, the Governor of Pennsylvania is no different in this year of 1937 than a praetor in Rome basking in the sunshine of the emperor's good will 20 centuries ago.

At Pittsburgh on Tuesday 150 mailing room employees in the three unionized newspapers barricaded themselves on a sitdown strike. Upon learning of this incident Praetor Earle telegraphed the Mayor of Pittsburgh:

"These mailers have forfeited all rights of labor by refusing to follow their own elected officers and violating their contract. Unless they recede from their position and return to work until the expiration of their contract, I recommend that you consider them common trespassers."

In plain American, give them the boots. We say that the Pennsylvania praetor is not all anarchist because he implies that men must live up to a contract. But it is he who determines what the contract is or whether there is any at all. And it is he who directs "the rank and file" to follow their leaders or come under the ban of the tyrant's scowl.

Labor may get a little taste of the austere and grating results of the form into which we are gradually changing from isolated episodes of this character. No one hereabouts pretends to know the merits. But all of us should realize that no tyrant, even those divinely blessed with royal blood, can ever pass upon the rights of men so summarily, with such lightning speed, and with an absence of hearing or consideration.

There have been contracts obtained by sharp dealing. There have been contracts, too, that resulted from fraud or misrepresentation. When 150 men throw up their work, the entire personnel of the mailing departments, at least a slight presumption arises that there is an honest issue. But Praetor Earle turned thumbs down upon the rights of these men, himself determined by a quick-trigger decision that there was a contract, that it had been violated, and that they should permit themselves to be led around by the nose by their leaders anyway, because it is best to hide from Pennsylvania the claws a little longer. To do that strikes must be limited else the people will become concerned and then anxious.

Moreover, what right have mailers who belong to the American Federation of Labor to strike in Pennsylvania? Did Super-ruler Lewis issue his permission?

Let other workers be taught the Pennsylvania lesson—either submit to Lewis or shut your mouths.

"THAT NATION OF SHOPKEEPERS"

The extent to which our English brethren have gone in creating their King into a virtual national figure may be seen in the announcement by the British government that the birthday of George VI is hereafter fixed as of the 9th of June although that affable and worth monarch was actually born on December 14.

The King's birthday has become the nation's most rousing spectacle, the center of gay activities, and therefore the magnet that draws thousands upon thousands of tourists to London. And tourists do not come with empty pockets.

Such a day of celebration is as out of place in December when the holiday business is tops anyway as the shipping of perfume to Grasse.

But in June, when the weather has cleared up and the fogs are off somewhere north of the Orkneys, a day of rejoicing and national celebration is entirely appropriate, and, better still, good business.

It is not to be assumed that the eagle eye with which England keeps the conditions of business before it as a principal objective necessarily attends the decision of every Englishman, yet when Vicar Jardine, who married the Winders, and resigned his pastorate, announced his approaching visit to America for a two months' lecture tour he gave those who like to shoot darts at Albion a chance to murmur something about the shopkeepers being at it again.

THE BASQUES, A GREAT PEOPLE

The brightest spot in the Spanish war today is occupied by the Basques who, even in defeat, assume majestic stature.

The Basques would not murder hostages. They would not slay because someone was pointed out as an enemy or accused by a toothless hag. When they realized Bilbao was lost to them they declined to wreck buildings out of the ferocity that permeates such a large part of the Spanish people. To prevent the butchery of prisoners by the anarchists they liberated them and gave them firearms so they could protect themselves.

Out of the fury of the Spanish conflagration the Basque has emerged as the only one blessed by heaven with the qualities essential to self-government.

And yet the Basques, as they stand aloof and apart from the people around them, help to accentuate the snarl that is Europe when an attempt is made to have peoples act in unison. For these people have maintained both their characteristics as a nation and their separate language for thousands of years. They do not know exactly from whence they came nor does anyone else. They have a language that is more like German than Spanish. Three-fourths of their race reside in Spain, the others in France. But always they proudly maintain themselves as distinct from the peoples who surround them, decline to be fused in any melting pot and therefore present a difficulty.

In the Spanish civil war they did not choose to go with the Reds, they chose to go the way of freedom for themselves. They found that war, like politics, makes for strange bedfellows. They never liked the monarchy and feared with good reason that the success of Franco might bring it back. Theirs was an awful decision to make and no doubt it caused them great apprehension.

Their power is broken with the loss of Bilbao. They may, as may anyone, continue in guerrilla fashion but it is unlikely they will persist in such a course because of its uselessness.

THE CASE AT PRAIRIE DU CHIEN

Assuming that Harold Best, the 15-year-old lad who has confessed the killing of his sister, is guilty, and for the reasons detailed by him, what is to be done about it?

Harold says his sister teased him and he took a rifle and shot her. To all appearances he is said to be a normal boy. But, of course, he is not normal. And the chances are great that he can never be made normal.

He belongs to that class which is always dangerous because it exaggerates its annoyances, permits mere irritations to grow into mountains, and believes that honor and safety may only be secured by the severest penalty for what, if anything, was the slightest offense.

Science, of course, has a particular name for people of that type. And it has learned that they are very dangerous. It cannot diagnose their difficulty by looking in their eyes or taking their blood pressure. It learns the danger through acts or declarations, and often before fatalities result.

Harold is most unfortunate but his unfortunate situation will not be helped by turning him loose on the public. He is to be pitied but pity should never be evidenced by a parole or a pardon. If the state cannot cure him—and at present it cannot—it owes the duty to its people to protect them from him. Those are all simple statements to which general accord could easily be secured. But one of the great difficulties in America today is that men of Harold's type find paroles not difficult to secure, and if they have a sizable piece of money, are often pardoned outright. Turned loose upon the public they make valiant attempts to overcome a violent mood or a constant irascibility. But to no purpose. The waters long held back by the dam suddenly break forth with increased fury and some innocent and unsuspecting member of the public is torn to pieces as though a jaguar had roamed our streets.

It is one of the prices we pay for a loose jointed democracy.

Opinions Of Others

THE CASE OF DR. FRANK

Those who have been disturbed by the move to oust Dr. George Frank as president of the University of Wisconsin are relieved to learn that the Board of Regents will not act until specific charges have been presented and until Dr. Frank has been given an opportunity to answer in an open hearing.

With opinion among Wisconsin alumni as sharply divided as it is, we won't venture to inject opinions of our own. Dr. Frank may be as weak as extraneous and as generally unsatisfactory a president as his opponents say. Or he may be as strong as scholars and as truly liberal as his supporters contend. Our interest is simply in the fact that Wisconsin, perhaps more than any other state university, has represented a spirit of free inquiry and untrammeled scholarship of which the entire country should be proud. We don't want to see its reputation damaged.

Whether Dr. Frank goes or stays should be decided by the Board of Regents, with all the evidence considered and with the man whose own reputation is involved fully heard. Above all, the Regents' action should not be politically dictated. We should regret to see the Progressive Philip LaFollette in the position of meddling politically in a university's affairs. For that reason we are glad not only that Dr. Frank won't be given the rush act but also that the

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

WHEN FATHER WENT TO TOWN

When Father had to go to town to buy
A binder or a plow, Ma always said:
"Now wear your store clothes, Pa!" And he would sigh,
And then refuse by shaking his gray head.
"They don't make for a comfortable ride,"
He told her, and she'd carefully fold down
His white boiled shirt (his ironing was her pride)
And clothes she fondly hoped he'd wear in town.

But after his return, when she unpacked
His carpet bag, our Mother always knew,
Though Father stoutly would deny the fact,
He'd worn his overalls the journey through!

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.

CAUSE AND PREVENTION OF PNEUMONIA

In an article published recently, "The Natural Way to Breathe" we showed how lowering of the vital capacity, shallow breathing, and not chilling, accounts for the frequency of pneumonia or other pulmonary complications following major operations, whether the surgery is done under ether or other inhalation anesthesia or under local or spinal anesthesia. Many measurements with the spirometer (which measures the quantity of air breathed) have indicated that the vital capacity is lowered from 30 to 50 per cent for a few days following a major operation, especially an abdominal operation. Ordinarily an adult breathing quietly inhales and exhales a cut of air at each respiration. Put down this average air intake from one-third to one-half, and bear in mind that only one-fifth of the volume of the air is oxygen, and one may readily imagine the lowered vital capacity might have far-reaching effects on health and life.

Collapse (atelectasis) of portions of the lungs is more likely to occur when the vital capacity is lowered. Collapse of the air-cells of the lungs, rather than filling with water, is the cause of death in drowning, where the victim gets a little water in the nose or mouth in the first fright and struggle, inducing spasmodic tightening or closing of the glottis or entrance to the windpipe, so that the violent efforts to inhale air produce negative pressure within the chest, and collapse of the lungs.

Belly breathing exercise and inhalation of carboxygen from an inhalator—a mixture of carbon dioxide, from 7 to 10 per cent with oxygen—is one of the best preventive measures against pneumonia in any circumstance where pneumonia or other pulmonary complication is likely to occur.

Of course all I know is what I hear real doctors say, but I sincerely believe that the regular practice of belly breathing, especially six belly inflations on retiring and six on waking in the morning, is a good prophylactic against pneumonia.

Medicines of the sedative or narcotic class, too often taken by laymen for relief of cough, are, in my opinion, a contributory cause of pneumonia. Such drugs numb the cough reflex, favor retention of viscid or tenacious mucus in the bronchial tube, and this may serve as a plug which gives rise to a small area of collapse or atelectasis of lung. The collapsed airless lung tissue is more vulnerable to pneumonia than is a normally functioning lung. Again suppression of cough by such means impairs a natural means of defense—for the natural purpose of coughing is to expel something foreign or irritating. Finally, cough does tend to lower the vital capacity still further.

Finally, I believe but do not know that exposure of the naked skin to ultraviolet light, mid-day sunlight, is a prophylactic against pneumonia, and other respiratory infections, if for any reason one cannot absorb ultraviolet (which produces vitamin D in the skin, then one requires an adequate daily ration of vitamin D internally, in one form or another.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Cast in one eye since early childhood, eye also blind. Result of operation. Why couldn't the useless muscles be removed and other muscles grafted to eyeball to take up the function of the useless muscles? (A. B.)

Answer—Your idea may not be fantastic. Keep mulling it over, and propose it to every good oculist (eye surgeon) you meet. At present no one, so far as I know, undertakes such an operation. I think you confused the history of your condition. Surely it was not the result of operation.

Novice Roller

Aged 62, great walker, neck stiff and creaky sometimes. Haven't turned a somersault in many years. Wonder if I dare try now. Your idea of the value of such exercise appeals to me, but Friend Husband is afraid I'll break my neck. (Mrs. R. L. T.)

Answer—I roll twenty somersaults first thing every morning, do the belly breathing exercise night and morning, and bowl 98 ends a week the year around. Send self addressed envelope and ask for By-Laws of Somersaultauqua.

Frozen Milk

Please tell me if it is dangerous to feed a baby milk that has been frozen. Also whether canned goods left in a lakeside cabin and frozen last winter would be dangerous for us to eat this summer. (Mrs. G. H.)

Answer—Experience has proved that human breast milk, frozen and shipped long distance, is a valuable food for newborn infants. If the frozen canned goods are satisfactory in taste and the cans not broken or leaking or bulging, such food is perfectly safe and wholesome.

Your Birthday

If June 25 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., and from 8:30 to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 6:30 to 10:30 a. m., from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m., and from 10:30 p. m. until midnight.

It might be well to remember that there are two sides to every story, before forming any conclusion regarding any told to you this day. Do not put off until the last minute any request you may have to make of a business man or woman, for the chances are they are coming to be extremely busy. It might be wise not to make social calls this day, before finding out if your visit will interfere with previously made plans. This is not an auspicious day on which to try springing any sort of surprises, as be careful in this respect. Beware of undertaking anything of a hazardous nature, particularly where there might be a chance of injury to bones or limbs. Married and engaged couples, as well as those seriously in love, must avoid controversial subjects because tempers are likely to be easily lit in argument this day.

If a woman and June 25 is your birthday, you may be a very practical idealist. You have many visionary ideas, but you do not try to put them into practice. You are cautious when money is involved, and very venturesome when you have everything to gain and nothing to lose. Your diction ought to be excellent, and your conversational powers above par. A fluent tongue perhaps will enable you to make money, as well as gain in

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—More than one good source on Capitol Hill will tell you that congress is about fed up with heavy duty business this session and will adjourn without action on the court or wage-hour legislation. Fragments of additional farm legislation may seep through and some emergency corks will be whittled to stop the tax leaks. Not all of this can be verified and any public statement to that effect would be met by outright denials.

But if one rumor can be said to support another, the rumor of proposed court bills is supported by two others. One is that Senator Robinson, majority leader, has tentatively looked passage for Europe July 15. That is two weeks ahead of the time he has "guessed" congress would adjourn. The other is that Rep. Sam Rayburn, house majority leader, also has plans for an early departure from Washington.

Purpose

These rumors persist in the face of insistence by the President that he wants the court issue brought to a vote this session. Nobody here believes that either the wage-hour or court bills could be brought to a vote even by Aug. 1.

Some of the hill toppers have the idea that President Roosevelt wants to keep the court issue alive—for a purpose. A half dozen senators who are opposed to it now are up for reelection next year.

Actually much routine legislation already is out of the way, in spite of the disposition of the senate to meet only two days a week.

All prospect for an anti-lynching bill is gone. It is highly doubtful if the farm bill drawn up by farm organizations will get any place this session, and little hope is in sight for the crop insurance bill, in spite of presidential approval of such an undertaking on an experimental basis.

137th Attempt

Just by way of keeping you posted: The state department has begun for the 137th year an attempt to get a bill through congress. It was in 1801 that an agreement was reached with France that if she would forget how the United States failed to come to her aid in repayment for revolutionary war assistance, this country would forget several million dollars in claims growing out of raids by French privateers during the early Napoleonic wars.

But the U. S. citizens who had lost ships and cargoes told French raiders immediately came back on the United States for pay. The state department, several Presidents, and a host of claims have asked to have this claim paid. Congress has paid $1,000,000. Still it owes $3,000,000. Most of the money is owed to ancient insurers, and congress isn't especially sympathetic.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York — Ben Collada, imaginative purveyor of tango shows and flamenco floor-shows, is back from Mexico and fairly glowing over rumba-rumba and castanet-clicking typifiers of Latin entertainment he succeeded in corraling while there. The lean but well-fed impresario of El Chico thinks he has some genuine finds in the shapely ones which interpreters of the Fado and other facets of Spanish culture so fascinate the customers that they applaud ecstatically while allowing their children to grow cold.

Chief among the discoveries made by Senor Benito while dawdling in the land of Montezuma is the difference in bus rides.

"They don't run on schedules in Mexico," he recalls, "and that frequently leads to interesting complications. For instance, I was riding through typical Mexican countryside when one of the travelers set up a shout. There was a great deal of sudden and overwhelming confusion, and the bus jerked to a halt and everybody leaped out.

"At first I thought we had been attacked by bandits, but when I recovered my composure it was discovered that one of the travelers had caused for real grief. He was carrying an amber of chickens with him and one of the roosters, an enormous type, had leaped off the bus and disappeared into a pear orchard.

"Naturally he didn't want to lose such valuable chattel, so the driver stopped the bus and everybody obediently got out and helped him recapture the fowl. It took us 40 minutes to achieve this, but no one seemed to mind, and after that the trip was uneventful."

Combining business with pleasure, Senor Collada found time to visit most of the hotcha extravaganzas offered in Mexico City, but wasn't much impressed by what he saw.

"They don't know much about running restaurants and cabarets down there," he slanted. "There is no order and precision—only a great deal of confusion during which the customers and the entertainers vie with each other for attention. . . . But wait until you see Jose and Patricia do the Zambra! It's a dance they learned in Andalusia, and it is as interesting as the Fado or the Mexican Jarana, or even the Chapaneacas."

Second in importance among discoveries made by Senor Collada is that, while Broadway girls may have more shapely ankles, they are in no sense prettier than the native girls in Mexico City.

"And here's another thing. I brought back a Mexican tramp with me. He's the first genuine Mexican tramp to come professionally to New York, although there must be thousands of American tramps on the other side of the Rio Grande."

He's a great caricaturist and I only hope the movies don't take him away from me."

Yours very truly,
Clarence Ambler.

Appleton Teacher Writes Article on Training Pupils

Appears in Wisconsin
Journal of Education
This Month

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison—The dubious value of training pupils to think in a society "which makes less demand upon thinking than was true of a simpler mode of life" is the thesis of a thought-provoking article by Ivan Edmister Appleton Vocational school faculty member, in the current issue of the Wisconsin Journal of Education, organ of Wisconsin organized teachers.

"Economics, occupation, government, home life, social life and religion are becoming more complex and highly organized. With increasing organization a more skillful and intelligent leadership is demanded. Conversely, such aspects of life become more routinized and simplified for the masses of participants; nature's most efficient communities, the ant hill and the beehive, are achieved by a low order of intelligence," Edmister writes.

Leaders in Demand
"Perhaps the time is approaching when the bulk of our citizenry will be personally more happy and industrially more efficient if they are not trained in a critical analysis. Leaders will always be in demand, but the most orthodox and restraining forms of education have never been able to suppress the few who, through the demands of intellect or personality, are the dissenters of society."

"For these few we already provide a differentiation of curriculum and to an increasing extent, efficient methods, through the selective process of higher education. The process of selection is becoming more and more adequate for this particular demand. Higher education is no longer restricted to the higher economic classes. Hence, few who would profit by more specific training in thinking are denied the opportunity," he concluded.

RESTRICTIONS TIGHTENED
Washington—(AP)—A WPA survey of 12 representative cities shows a revival of restrictions against transient workers, along with hoboes, bums and tramps.

Troubles stacked against the transient—along with railway police and watchdogs—include difficulty in qualifying for WPA jobs, ineligibility for social security benefits, and employers' antagonism toward non-residents.

TO THE 528,846

who will buy new tires this week:

If you are going to replace your old worn-out rubber this week, here's some mighty important news you should hear before buying any tire:

The extra security and safety of the world's first-choice tires—Goodyear tires—will cost you less than any other running expense on your car—and America's largest fleet operators vouch for that, as the adjoining chart shows!

It makes no difference whether you buy the famous 43% longer-wearing Goodyear "G-3" All-Weather; the great new Goodyear "R-1"—a value bull's-eye—at the price you've been paying for ordinary tires; or Goodyears in other price classes—you get a whole lot more tire for your money in a Goodyear.

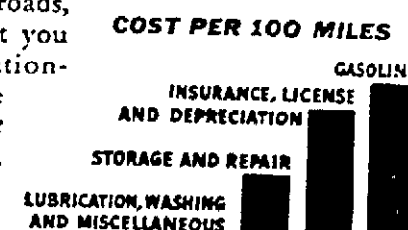

Extra value at all prices

Best proof of that is the fact that ALL Goodyear tires give you these plus-value features: road-holding center traction... the Goodyear Margin of Safety that guards you from skidding accidents... the surer blowout protection of patented Supertwist Cord in every ply!

So why shouldn't you enjoy these extra safeguards that only the world's most popular tires offer—since you can buy Goodyears in several different price classes to fit any driving need. Choose any Goodyear with confidence—these great tires cost you less than any other operating cost for your car!

THE CHEAPEST THING ON YOUR CAR IS THE BEST TIRES YOU CAN BUY!

Charted here are average maintenance costs obtained from fleet owners operating hundreds of cars on Goodyear tires. Note that a full set of Goodyears costs only about one-fifth as much as gas—from one-quarter to one-half as much as other routine expenses. Ratios may vary somewhat in your case depending upon roads, climate and how fast you drive, but these nationwide records prove Goodyears cost least under any conditions.

MILLIONS SAY—"THE BEST TIRE!"

Time is the test of a tire—and for 22 consecutive years more people have bought Goodyear tires than any other kind because they have found Goodyears best! Why not profit by their experience?

Duffy Will Speak Before Groups in Wisconsin Cities

Scheduled to Give Talks at Milwaukee, Green Bay And Monroe

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Sen. F. Ryan Duffy's speaking engagements in Wisconsin next week will take him before all important groups representing ancestral nationally except the Poles, the Swedes, and the Norwegians. But he has spoken to those groups before, and will do so again.

After spending today, Friday, and Saturday at Jefferson Island, in Chesapeake Bay, with the president and other democratic members of congress, Sen. Duffy will fly to Milwaukee to address the Federated German societies on Sunday. From Monday until Thursday, July 1, he will confer with various people and groups in and around Milwaukee and his home, Fond du Lac.

July 1, he will address the Irish Fellowship at Green Bay.

July 3, he will address the seventeenth triennial convention of the National Turn-fest of the Swiss-American Gymnastic association at Monroe.

July 4, he will return to Milwaukee to speak to the sixth American Convention of the National Italian Civic League.

July 5, he will be in Washington to make the major address at the national capital's celebration of independence day. His speech will be made in the open air at the Memorial bridge waterfront, where thousands will assemble on the river bank, near the Lincoln memorial, to see fireworks and hear speeches.

Manitoba Man Is Kiwanians' Chief

F. Trafford Taylor Elected President of International

Indianapolis—The Kiwanis International wound up the twenty-first annual convention here today following the selection of F. Trafford Taylor of St. Boniface, Manitoba, as president.

Delegates tabled a series of resolutions on President Roosevelt's court reorganization plan.

H. G. Hatfield of Oklahoma City, Okla., was named treasurer.

Harry W. Colmery, American Legion national commander, assailed the president's court plan yesterday.

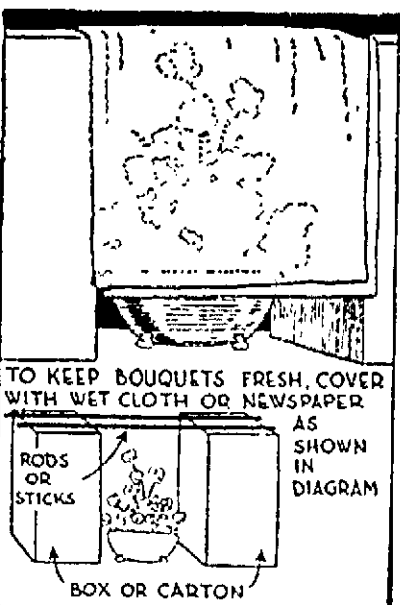

"The trend away from American principles holds a threat of liberty and individualism," Colmery said.

During the next year approximately 2,000 communities will have in operation supervised playgrounds and recreational programs, said Clarence F. Whiffen, Sheboygan, Wis., chairman of the under privileged child committee, who will aid in promoting these efforts in the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan district.

Anthony V. Weasler, West Bend, chairman of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan district vocational guidance committee, said school officials and educators over the nation are increasing their requests to help students who are interested in the business and professional pursuits of Kiwanians.

Novel Idea Suggested to Keep Your Flowers Fresh

Here Is a Method of Keeping Flowers Which Everyone Can Practice

In June we get a touch of the hot days which July and August always bring. And it is at this time we should take particular care of our cut flowers if we would have them give us their full measure of beautiful color and fragrance.

Just how to keep flowers fresh when thermometer reaches the top of the dial is a problem which deserves our attention, and if we do not have a sizeable refrigerator to keep them in, here is a substitute which works very well.

Construct a covering of wet newspapers over the arrangement or bouquet. The wet newspapers will cause a great quantity of moisture to be taken up in the air beneath and this evaporation will cause the temperature to drop considerably below room temperature, besides providing a continuous supply of moisture. If you can do this in the basement where the temperature is usually several degrees cooler, so much the better.

Construct the framework for the newspapers by placing an empty paper carton or wooden box on each side of the flowers. Then, drape the newspapers over them, placing a rod or stick between to prevent sagging. Once you get in the habit of saving newspapers and applying them to this purpose, it will be no trouble, and you will have fresh flowers after a night under the wet canopy, instead of wilted ones.

Another precaution to take is against hot drafts. They are almost as dangerous to cut flowers as cold drafts in the wintertime, because they dry up the stems and petals and carry away the moisture faster than the tiny veins can suck it up from the bowl.

Fresh water is, as always, important. Change oftener than during cool days, because heat assists water to become foul, and promotes bacterial life in it.

Containers should be chosen with as much emphasis upon their appearance as upon their health. This means containers which will hold plenty of water, and which will give air a chance to get down the stem, if any. Shallow containers are of course necessary, but when used, the water should be changed oftener. A small piece of charcoal in the water will help in keeping it sweet.

Young Democrats To Meet Saturday

Expect 500 Persons at Annual State Convention June 26 at Portage

Portage—About 500 people are expected to attend the annual state convention of the Young Democrats, which will be held in Portage on Saturday, June 26. At the present time more registrations have been sent in than were in attendance at the last convention, and much enthusiasm is being shown by delegates and townspeople alike.

Delegates are registered from almost every county in the state, one county sending over 40 delegates to the convention. Besides state notables, many nationally known figures will attend. Among them will be United States Senator F. Ryan Duffy who is counted on to be one of the principal speakers.

Also in attendance will be the national president of the Young Democrats, Frank Wickham of South Dakota, and Alvin Johnson state president of the Indiana organization.

National Committeeman, Charles Broughton, Sheboygan and national Committeewoman, Mrs. Louise Givan, Milwaukee, have signified their intention of being present, as has former Governor Al G. Schmiedeman, and the state president of the Wisconsin Young Democrats, Dr. M. L. Richdort, Sheboygan.

Active on committees for the occasion are Tom Byrnes, Milwaukee, former assistant district attorney of Milwaukee county, who is now national committeeman for the State of Wisconsin Young Democrats, and State Senator Harold Schoenacker of Milwaukee.

Appleton will probably be represented at the meeting by Paul Cary, Jr., Don Collins, Abe Cohen, Jerry Jolin and Francis Rooney.

Eau Claire Man Heads Sons of Union Veterans

Sheboygan—(4)—Benjamin Haag, Eau Claire, was elected state commander of the Sons of Union Veterans yesterday by delegates attending the concluding sessions of the Wisconsin department encampment of the G. A. R.

Ray R. Lewis, Milwaukee, was named senior vice commander; Gordon Cline, Baraboo, junior vice commander; Charles Hudson, Madison, secretary-treasurer, and Hollie Lord, Waupun, William Sumaden, Sheboygan, and Charles Leonard, Koshong, council members.

The auxiliary of the Sons of Union Veterans reelected Mrs. Hazel B. Lester, Waupun, president.

Civil war veterans selected Milwaukee as the site of the 1938 G. A. R. convention.

Council Plans Meet To Act on Licenses

Congress Has Another Five-Day Week Bill

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Congress, which has already had so many proposals to authorize a 5-day week that it is bleary-eyed, has just received another, to authorize a sometime 5-day week.

The latest, introduced by Sen. Johnson of Colorado, would have certain Mondays observed as legal holidays. For these, he would choose the Mondays which fall closest to January 1, February 22, May 30, July 4, and Thanksgiving day.

This would place the celebration of New Year's eve inevitably on Sunday evening. When May 30 falls on a Friday, for instance, that date would be ignored and the following Monday would become legally Memorial day.

The committee on education and labor has the immediate fate of this measure in its hands.

U. S. Land for Park Authorize Use of

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—The house has passed a bill authorizing the transfer of a portion of the Twin River Point lighthouse reservation to the state of Wisconsin, for a recreational park.

The park will be used by the state and national park services in cooperation and is expected to be the first in a series of public recreation grounds to be constructed along the Lake Michigan shore.

Introduced by Representative George J. Schneider of Appleton, the measure is expected to pass the senate with no trouble.

Both the interior department and the National Park service have recommended the transfer. The bill stipulates that the land shall be used for no other purposes than a public park and that the federal government may take it over at any time without consent of the state.

Cue Bid Should Show Ace of Suit or Void

BY ELY CULBERTSON

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I always have prided myself on not taking severe penalties at bridge, so when I tell you that I was the partner of a player who went down 2,200 points last night at a redoubled contract, you will appreciate that the blow was as severely felt by my pride as it was by my pocket."

"Ironically enough, as you will see from the hand itself, the redoubled vulnerable game contract should have been fulfilled with ease."

"South, dealer.

"I was North and hereby admit that I should have had my head examined for that redouble. If my partner had been an expert I think the redouble would have been good, but I should have realized that this freak hand might require handling that was over my partner's head. Also, I might have known that West had been 'trapping' all the way. Well, we live and learn!"

"West opened the spade king and, seeing the singleton in dummy, shifted to a diamond. (Incidentally, I think that a spade continuation would have been better defense, don't you?) But nothing could have turned out better, from West's point of view, than the diamond play. Dummy won in his hand and, in a frenzy to get out the trumps, laid down the ace, king, and a small one. West won with the queen and now laid down the king of spades. Dummy ruffed with the last trump, and you can see what a terrible fix declarer was in. West still had the nine of trumps and there was no way for declarer to return to his hand to draw it. Nor could the diamond suit be run."

"In desperation, my partner led the singleton club toward the king, but when this lost to the ace and a second diamond came back from West, dummy was dead as a door nail. The defenders eventually gathered in seven tricks for a penalty of a mere 2,200 points."

"Considering that the contract was cold on proper play, I call this quite a swing. As you will note, all South had to do was win the second trick with the king of diamonds and lead a low heart toward dummy. If West ducked, the pack would win; the ace and king of hearts would be cashed, leaving West with one high trump, and diamonds would then be run off until the cows came home. If West should take the queen of hearts immediately, no successful defense would be available. If he were to return a trump, declarer would pick up all the trumps and run off the diamonds, or, if a spade, dummy would ruff and the same process could be used."

"Have you ever noticed, Mr. Culbertson, that many players seem to go haywire when they hold only four trumps in their own hand?"

"Disgustedly yours,
"J. T. T. Minneapolis"

My correspondent's closing point is well taken. Many declarers do go astray in the handling of four trumps suits, even when dummy also has four. On the bidding, it should have been apparent to declarer that West might easily hold four trumps to the queen. To short on both the closed hand and dummy by the lead of the ace, king, and a low trump was murder, mayhem, and suicide rolled into one.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Question: What is a "cue bid"?
Answer: In bridge parlance a cue bid is a bid which does not show a biddable suit, but does show the ace of the suit or sometimes a void.

The Story of Baseball

IV—INTERESTING FACTS
The early rule about 21 runs being enough to win a baseball game was changed, and the teams were allowed to make as many runs as they could in nine innings. Here are a few of the scores after the rule was changed, made in 1863 by the Cincinnati Red Stockings:

A G. Spalding, a pitcher, later put on a kid glove, cutting the back of it away "to let the air in." This did not help enough, so he put a thin pad inside the glove, covering the palm of his hand. Still later came the well-padded glove which was called "the pillow mitt."

The wire mask to protect the catcher was invented about 25 years ago. A baseball-playing doctor was a pioneer in using it, and a newspaper account tells us, "The players 'knew' him for wearing it. They said it was 'babyish' and cowardly to wear a protection to the face." Present-day catchers are not afraid of being called "babies." In addition to masks, they often wear chest-protectors and shin guards.

At an early date, it was learned that a pitcher could throw a ball so it would curve before crossing the plate. For years after the discovery, there were debates as to whether the wind was the only thing which could make a ball curve, but the players knew the curves were made by the spinning motion of the ball.

Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson are two of the famous pitchers in baseball history. Mathewson won many games for the New York Giants by pitching his "fade-away" drop. This curving ball was a puzzle to batters, and many of them were struck out.

The Red Stockings were a fine team, but they were not the only players who made big scores. Every now and then in those days, a team made more than a hundred runs in a game. The ball contained two or three ounces of rubber in its center and could be batted a long distance. The present official baseball does not contain so much rubber, and has a cork center.

Old gloves were used in early baseball games. Players had to catch batted and thrown balls in their bare hands. Often their hands or fingers were "burned" by fast balls. In 1875, a Boston ball player named Charles Waite put a flesh-colored glove on his left hand. He was ashamed to use it, because he thought people would call him a "sissy." They did make jokes about his "soft hands."

Daintiness Is Sign Woman Is Well Bred

BY ELSIE PIERCE

PERSONAL daintiness is a mark of a well-bred woman. And perspiration with its attendant objectionable odor is so definitely fatal to personal daintiness that fastidious women regard the use of a deodorant as part of their daily routine.

With the advent of warm weather the matter of checking perspiration becomes doubly important because the activity of the perspiration glands is stimulated at this season of the year. Special precautions must be taken because once perspiration starts to collect on the clothing deodorants are no longer effective in destroying the odor. That is why, in your choice of a deodorant it is best to select one that not only neutralizes but actually checks perspiration.

Safe to Use
Very often I am asked whether anti-perspirants are entirely safe to use. Yes, if used locally. They close the pores, routing the secretion to other parts of the body where it can more readily evaporate. There are perspiration glands all over the body; but perspiration readily evaporates; particularly in summer when very little clothing is worn. The sheltered area of the arm pits, however, makes evaporation at that point very difficult.

One of the newest niceties for checking underarm perspiration is an ice. For those who do not perspire very freely this is a boon; a particularly welcome thing to have for emergencies. It is mild, soothing, it melts and vanishes so quickly that it can be used as you dress. And it is made by the same family as two well-known liquid deodorants.

Powder
There is a cream deodorant in the same family. And a dusting powder which combines the soothing effects of a talcum with deodorizing qualities. It is cool and refreshing to use after the bath, to dust in shoes, gloves and so on. But the makers recommend its use in addition to a good anti-perspirant, not in place of it, for it is not intended as a means of checking perspiration.

Follow Directions
In using a deodorant, to get the best possible results, please do follow directions. People often claim, for instance, that an anti-perspirant, and a reliable one, too, has stained or injured clothing. Directions usually call for washing of the underarm after the anti-perspirant has dried. Omit this simple step and the fabric may not be entirely safe—but why not follow directions and be content in the consciousness that you will get the intended results.

My bulletin "Good Grooming and Personal Daintiness" covers other phases of the subject. A self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope will bring it to you. Address Miss Pierce in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

something to offset interest in the seasoning or the quality of the roast. Children learn what is taught them by their elders' behavior, talk and feeling. It is as easy to teach normal children to eat what is placed before them cheerfully as it is to teach them to the contrary. In either instance the instruction is dramatic because it comes through the medium of action, speech and emotion.

Then make the table behavior the sort that conveys cheerful contentment to the children. Let it be the kind that teaches pleasant manners. So serve the meal that it becomes a ritual of family unity, family enjoyment, family idealism. Table manners are directly related to the ill-judged conduct of those who ought to know better.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Of course, mothers-in-law no more run true to form than do women of any other class. Some are good, some bad; some are possessive and never willing to give their sons up; some are meddling; some are hard to get along with. But there are just as many others who would gladly welcome their sons' wives as daughters if they would let them. Many who would no more think of offering a bit of advice to a daughter-in-law than they would to the President. And many others who are an ever-present help in time of trouble in spite of little encouragement.

If a girl gets a good husband, she owes a debt of gratitude to her mother-in-law that she can never repay. For it took Mother twenty-odd years of hard work to teach him manners and morals and the amenities of life. It is because Tom's mother taught him good principles and industry and thrift that makes him able to support a wife in comfort.

It is because his mother taught him chivalry toward women and neatness and order that makes him a help around the house, instead of somebody who has to be picked up after. It is mother-in-law who can always be depended upon to find a little money to help over a crisis, or to come and tend a hand when the wife is sick, or to look after the children while Tom and his wife take a trip. It is mother-in-law who will stand by the wife in any time of dispute, if only the wife has had sense enough to make a friend of her.

If a woman wants to rivet her husband to her with hope of steel she can do nothing so effective as to get along amiably with her mother-in-law. A man, for the sake of peace, often lets his wife alienate him from his mother, but in his heart he never forgives her for doing so. And that is something every jealous wife will remember.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a man 24 years old and make a good salary and would like to marry, but unfortunately I am bald-headed, and when I am around girls I feel that they think that I am an old man and so I cannot get up the courage to talk to them. Do you think my baldness puts me out of the running?

Not a bit of it! Girls' minds are so much on their own hair and how to comb it like the last movie star that they don't notice whether

GOOD TASTE TODAY

BY EMILY POST

CLOTHES IN PUBLIC
Dear Mrs. Post: At home my little boy's nurse wears a white uniform and white shoes both around the house and when she has him out doors. The question now arises as to the type of clothes she should wear when traveling with us. We have never before taken the child on a long journey and I have really never noticed what other people have done. I think, however, that white would be unnecessarily conspicuous as well as present a problem in laundering. We like this young woman very much but her position is in no sense that of a relative, and if she does not wear some sort of a uniform, might it not prove awkward at times if strangers mistake her for my sister, for example?

Answer: A nurse traveling always wears simple clothes like those worn by any one else. Most smart is a grey tailored suit with a white blouse and a simple grey hat, or the same combination in blue. Or if the weather is warm, then a grey or blue silk dress would be more comfortable, and equally suitable. The situations you speak of are not apt to arise because she is either occupied with the child or else somewhat by herself. If on occasion it is necessary to explain or introduce her, you say, "This is Della, Bobby's nurse."

Dear Mrs. Post: I accompany my husband occasionally when he goes out on the road on business. It has happened that we have arrived in a city with no time to dress for dinner and yet would have liked to go to dinner in the best hotel. But I have always hesitated without knowing whether it would be proper to go to such dining rooms in traveling clothes.

Answer: In the dining rooms of the hotels in which you are staying it is usually quite all right to dine, if you choose, in daytime clothes. But in restaurants in great cities that are ultra fashionable, traveling clothes would not only be out of place in the evening, but quite possibly not allowed.

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I went to a convention with three other delegates from home and seem to have been ill-mannered and seem to become the subject of discussion among them. On one of the free evenings when we were not being entertained I wanted very much to hear a noted lecturer who was in town that evening only, and the other delegates wanted to go to a play. I was perfectly willing that they go to the play but asked to be excused. They apparently thought me rude for not having gone with the majority. As long as I did not interfere with their plans I did not understand why I should have been obliged to go with them.

Answer: Unless in some way, which you didn't explain, you felt responsible for their good time through having promised to look after them, I can't see why they, as well as you, were not free to do what each preferred.

My Neighbor Says—

The only way to get rid of the rose bugs that are now infesting roses, peonies and grapevines is to pick them off into a can of kerosene. If you do not get rid of them now you will have a large crop next year.

It is well when papering a room to remember that large patterns and dark colors will make it appear smaller, while a plain or striped paper, if a light hue, will give an impression of increased size.

Old Gardener Says:

Red Hot Pokers are among the most brilliant of garden perennials. In fact, their color is so brilliant that many garden makers hesitate to use them. If used carefully, however, so that they do not clash with neighboring flowers, they are very ornamental. There are several kinds of them, some red, some yellow, and some a combination of red and yellow. The more common kinds grow to about two feet high, but there is also a dwarf form. Seed sown now will give blooming plants next year, but the seedlings should be wintered in a coldframe. The Red Hot Pokers are catalogued by most firms under the name of trillium. The botanists, however, class them under the name kniphofia.

Koepe Awarded Contracts for Paving Streets

Concrete Paving Work Will Be Started in About A Month

Koepe Brothers Construction company was awarded the paving contracts for Packard, Morrison and Lave streets and Ravinia place by the common council at an adjourned meeting last night.

The company submitted the low bid for paving the streets with reinforced concrete. They were Packard street from N. Division to Badger avenue $32,273; N. Morrison street from Hancock to Wisconsin avenue $12,576.61; Ravinia place $7,842.47; and S. Lave street between the bridges $9,607.75.

Cost of the paving on Packard and N. Morrison streets will be about $2.20 per running foot, on Ravinia place about $3.40 per running foot and on Lave street about $3.40 per running foot.

Bidding contractors stipulated that their prices on paving the streets were on the basis that the four streets would be let as one job. Several property owners preferred asphalt but accepted concrete when the bids were explained. It was pointed out that if bids were again accepted for the price for any one street would be much higher.

Will Start in Month

The council will assess benefits and damages and the construction work probably will be started in about a month. The paving on Morrison street between Wisconsin avenue and Summer street will be 36 feet wide.

Paving plans for W. College avenue from Outagamie street to Linwood avenue and S. Lave street from S. River to Maple street were approved and bids will be sought.

Oiling on N. Locust street and on N. Harrison street was ordered and they will be placed on the summer oiling program.

An ordinance regulating heavy truck traffic on streets paved with asphalt was proposed by Alderman Thompson after a letter was read objecting to heavy trucks using Prospect street. The city engineer was instructed to list streets of asphalt and the maximum load they can bear without damage to the pavement. The communication specifically objected to use of the street by heavy carnival trucks and the matter was referred to the street and bridge committee.

Mileage Signs

Placing of mileage signs on various streets was proposed and the matter referred to the traffic committee. Mayor Goodland also suggested that busy streets be marked with a center line and the suggestion met with council approval.

The water department was instructed to lay a water main on Packard street between Garfield avenue and State street before paving work is started. Graveling on Third and Calumet streets was ordered. Upon recommendation of the street and bridge committee, the water department will be instructed to discontinue water service to residents outside of the city.

Spencer street will be oiled from Mason street east to the railroad tracks. Construction of sewers on E. Harrison and Harmon streets was deferred for the present. Proposed paving of Linwood avenue from Badger to Wisconsin avenue was deferred to the street and bridge committee.

A proposal made by Alderman Steinhauser that the Oneida street bridge, owned by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, be taken over by the city if it can be secured without cost was referred to the street and bridge committee.

Alderman De Land gave a report on a legislative trip to Madison this week with Aldermen Keller and Franks. He said that he opposed a number of relief bills which would affect the city and learned that most of them would get little consideration from the assembly's finance committee which was in charge of them.

A claim of Lester A. Schultz against the city for an alleged fall on Chicago avenue, June 14, was referred to the judiciary committee and the city attorney.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

Chickens Come Home to Roost

Five months ago Mr. Roosevelt's ardent friends would not listen to any one who warned them that they had taken a course which led not to reform but to reaction. All they could think of was the election returns and their supposed mandate.

Yet they were told that the attempt to seize control of the judiciary, that their refusal to uphold the law in the Michigan sit-down strikes, that their financial irresponsibility, that their contempt for those who asked that the election be interpreted as a mandate for an era of good feeling, that their use of political terrorism against their opponents, that their encouragement of class hatred, that all these things would promote a dangerous reaction.

These warnings are now being verified, and the New Deal administration is confronted with the rising temper of a large part of the community which looks upon Mr. Candler as the St. George who will slay the dragon. For Mr. Girdler is just as bold and just as arbitrary.

First Heat Wave Of Season Being Experienced Here

Mercury Passes 90 Degrees At Noon While City Swelters

Appleton was experiencing its first summer heat wave today as the mercury climbed above the 90-degree mark at noon today on the roof of the Post-Crescent building.

Housewives were forsaking their homes for the parks and picnic lunches were the order. Coats and ties were discarded as business men sought to find some relief by going about in their shirt sleeves.

Relief may arrive tonight in the form of local showers or thunderstorms with generally fair and cooler weather tomorrow. The rain promised for today failed to materialize and the sun beat down steadily from a clear sky.

Maximum and minimum temperatures of 83 and 65 degrees were reported in the last 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

Highest and lowest temperatures reported by the Associated Press yesterday were Phoenix, Sioux City and Huron 106, Yellowstone 88 and Roseburg 44.

HOTTEST OF YEAR

Milwaukee—(AP)—Summer heat gripped Wisconsin generally today for the first time this year, many points reporting the hottest day of the season. The mercury rose rapidly during the day.

In the north and northwest, Eau Claire, Antigo and Superior reported 94. La Crosse, Milwaukee and Wausau recorded 90, Oshkosh 89, Madison 88 and Green Bay 80.

Cooler temperatures, however, were forecast by nightfall and for tomorrow by the Federal Weather bureau. Frank H. Coleman, government meteorologist, said thunder showers may bring relief to night.

La Crosse, Eau Claire, Wausau and Milwaukee area residents experienced their hottest weather of the year. At Green Bay, the mercury was headed for a new season's record of more than 90.

Superior, Wis.—(AP)—While other Midwest cities were sweltering Thursday from a heat wave, Superior was enjoying its usual cool summer weather.

The temperature reading at noon was 54 degrees. Solon Springs reported 50, Rice Lake 50 and Ashland 50 at noon.

A cool Lake Superior breeze accompanied a light rain that began falling at noon in Superior.

Teachers' Compensation

Proposal Held Illegal

Madison—(AP)—Attorney General Orland S. Loomis ruled unconstitutional today a legislative proposal to make Milwaukee school teachers who returned prior to June 24, 1931, eligible for the same amount of annual payments as teachers who returned after that date.

The 1931 legislature increased the annuities effective June 24 of that year. Teachers who returned shortly before that time protested, contending they paid into the annuity fund virtually the same amount as those who returned soon after June 24.

The assembly committee on public welfare introduced at the request of Assemblyman Edward H. Kiefer, D., Milwaukee, a bill which would allow extra compensation to nearly 100 retired teachers.

May Issue Warrants in Overdue Income Accounts

Warrants will be issued at once for all persons with delinquent state income tax payments, the Outagamie county divisional income tax office of A. E. Nowak was informed Wednesday afternoon by J. L. Tibbitts, Green Bay, assessor of incomes. Tibbitts said the warrants were being issued in Brown county as the present time and that issuance would be started here at once.

It Is Said--

Indian Tot Makes Hit With Daily Bible Class Students

A 4-year-old Indian tot, Bobby Wilson, made a hit with his presentation of "The Gettysburg Address" when members of the senior department of the Daily Vacation Bible school journeyed to the Oneida Indian reservation yesterday and it is planned to include the lad on a program to go given at the First Methodist Episcopal church at 7:30 Friday evening.

Bobby favored the group of 120 children with several other humorous recitations and was besieged with "autograph seekers" following the close of an informal program given by the Indian children for the members of the Bible class. Laboriously, he could print his first name on the slips of paper tendered him by the Appleton children.

The group left the Y.M.C.A. building yesterday in 20 automobiles to take toys which they have repaired during the 3-week school term as a handicraft project to the reservation. They will be distributed to the Indian children at Christmas time. Impromptu games and short hikes provided entertainment during the afternoon and the group returned with no casualties registered.

A pageant, depicting the growth of organized religion, will be presented by members of the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth grade divisions at the Methodist church Friday evening and awards will be given for participation in various Bible school activities.

Britain Trying to Bring Conclusion To Newest Crisis

attack against government Spain as "punishment" for an alleged attempt to torpedo the German cruiser Leipzig.

The German cruiser Kolan arrived unexpectedly at Gibraltar, but whereabouts of the rest of the German fleet went unreported. Reports from Tangier, Morocco, said Italian and German warships had sailed from there.

From Paris, meantime, came word that France and England would look askance at any Italy-German attempt to blockade the Spanish government coast.

Germany blamed Russia and Great Britain for the new European crisis, which resulted when France and Britain refused to accede to German and Italian demands for a naval demonstration against the Valencia government.

An official Berlin communique declared "bolshievis Moscow" seeks to make Spain "a section of the communist international."

Meanwhile, a new cabinet crisis was reported in autonomous Catalonia, ally of the central Valencia government. There also were many spy arrests there.

On the northern Spanish front, government forces merged into a single army to strengthen resistance to the insurgent threat to dominate the entire Basque and Asturian regions.

Leads Combined Force

The Basque delegation at Bayona announced that General Gamir Urbarrri, commander-in-chief of the Basque army, would lead the combined force.

Recent estimates of the individual armies indicated the total would be approximately 60,000 fighting men. Supported by fleets of warplanes, insurgents today were throwing strong forces against Basque lines.

Heavy fighting was reported in the vicinity of La Arboleda, a mining town about six miles west of insurgent-captured Bilbao.

Advices from Basque headquarters said British and French warships continued to protect refugee vessels evacuating Basque noncombatants from Santander. One of the ships, the Mariana Molleda, arrived at La Pallice, France, yesterday with 1,500 refugees. The commander reported an insurgent warship ordered him to halt, but a British gunboat came to his aid.

Social Security Payments Below Previous Month

Amount for May Is $3,000 Less Than April. Records Reveal

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison — For the first time since 1935 when the legislature made old age assistance mandatory in all counties, social security aids for the month of May fell below the previous month, the state pension department revealed Tuesday.

A report from the pension department's statistical division shows that in Wisconsin during May $1,003,743.72 was spent for social security aids, about $3,000 less than the previous month. The decrease is attributed to the lowering of the budgets of aid to dependent children, with the discontinuance of winter clothing and fuel allowances for the summer months.

Social Security Payments
Social security payments for the Northeastern Wisconsin counties during the month of May are as follows: old age assistance, Brown, 24 applications pending; 526 beneficiaries, $9,323, average payment $17.74; Calumet, five applications pending, 125 beneficiaries, $1,694, average payment $15.15; Door, five applications pending, 183 beneficiaries, $3,284.50, average payment $17.95; Kewaunee, one application pending, 88 beneficiaries, $1,270, average payment $14.43; Manitowish, 19 applications pending, 417 beneficiaries, $8,701.27, average payment $20.87; Oconto, nine applications pending, 375 beneficiaries, $8,269, average payment $22.05; Outagamie, 23 applications pending, 600 beneficiaries, $11,149.60, average payment $18.58; Shawano, 23 applications pending, 442 beneficiaries, $9,887.50, $6.32 average payment; Waupaca, 26 applications pending, 518 beneficiaries, $9,091.50, average payment $17.55.

Total payments for aid to dependent children during the month of May in those counties were: Brown, $8,250; Calumet, $732.79; Door, $1,215; Kewaunee, $957; Manitowish, $3,402.33; Oconto, $1,555; Outagamie, $7,802.66; Shawano, $3,338; Waupaca, $2,814; Winnebago, $6,224.73.

Blind pensions for the month were: Brown, $835; Calumet, $65.33; Door, $232; Kewaunee, $135; Manitowish, $1,246; Oconto, $199; Outagamie, $1,124.49; Shawano, $502; Waupaca, $294; Winnebago, $988.

The California motor vehicle department estimates that in the last ten years 25,000 persons have been killed and a quarter million injured in traffic accidents within the state.

IF WAR COMES

These Five Master Minds Will Boss Europe's Armies

IN BRITAIN, the imperial general staff is headed by 62-year-old Sir Cyril Deverell, who was in command of the British 3rd division from the battle of the Somme in 1916 until the war ended. Deverell, now a field marshal, was mentioned nine times in dispatches. He also has served in India and as an aide-de-camp general to the king.

IN ITALY, the 65-year-old chief of staff, gray-haired Marshal Pietro Badoglio, is a veteran of five wars. He fought in the first Ethiopian war which ended disastrously for Italy and went back 39 years later to win the country for Mussolini. In between he made a name for himself in the World and Italo-Turkish wars.

IN FRANCE, the chief of armies is quiet, athletic-looking General Marie Gustave Gamelin, whose tactical orders in the World war are still cited to student officers as models of clarity and conciseness. General Gamelin, who is 64, helped Joffre win the battle of the Marne and later was decorated for his success in the Syrian war.

IN RUSSIA, the commissar of war and navy, Klementi E. Voroshilov, had no military training whatsoever until 1918 when he organized a detachment and fought successfully against German forces of occupation. Higher commands came in quick succession. Trim and well-built at 56, the commissar often was exiled under the czar.

IN GERMANY, the 56-year-old chief of the reichswehr, Col. Gen. Werner von Fritsch, used to be a die-hard monarchist. But after the fall of the republic, Von Fritsch, who fought in the World war, frequently expressed loyalty to Hitler and demonstrated his sincerity by leading a "parade of approval" after the blood purge.

Wash Hands Before Eating, Is Medical Society Advice

Madison—"Wash your hands before you eat" should be the password in every household, declared the State Medical Society in its health message today.

"As children, we thought that hand washing was nonsense and just another way for our parents to show their authority over us. As we grow older, however, we appreciate that this rule was enforced in the interest of our health.

Catch Many Germs
"We realize now that our hands are in almost constant contact with articles that are, or may be covered with, all sorts of germs. Some of these germs are of a type that cause infection and disease. The hands also come in contact with the mouth frequently during the day and provide a quick means of transportation into our bodies for the germs that may be on our hands. A thorough washing (scrubbing) of the hands with soap and warm water before handling food whether to prepare, serve, or eat it will reduce the chances of the germs reaching the inside of our bodies.

"Grown-ups wash and scrub their hands as a matter of course if the hands are covered with grease, paint, or some other readily apparent foreign substance, but all too frequently they make a fleeting inspection of the hands and, not seeing any dirt, neglect to wash them. The bacteria that may be on the hands are not visible to the naked eye and will gain entrance to the body through the mouth by means of the hands. Many people expose themselves unnecessarily to disease by neglecting to wash their hands before eating.

Teach Importance
"Parents should teach their children the importance of washing their hands after playing with cats or dogs. One needs only to observe the habits, manners and customs of these domestic pets to make the wisdom of this suggestion readily apparent. It is a well-known fact that the majority of the parasites which infect the intestinal tracts of children is directly traceable to contact with these small animals. In the interest of health these animals should be banished, but that will never happen so—wash the hands after playing with them.

"Clean hands will mean fewer sick days—wash them often and reduce the chance of contracting disease."

Welfare Agency to Establish Branch Office Here July 1

Children's Home and Aid Society Will Locate in Appleton

A branch office of the Children's Home and Aid society will be established in Appleton July 1 with Mrs. Earl Häfder, field worker, in charge. The new office will serve eight counties in this area.

Mrs. Häfder has had social work training at the University of Chicago in the school of social service administration and has been associated with social work agencies in Chicago. She has been working in Appleton as a worker for the Children's Home and Aid society for several months.

The Wisconsin society was organized 49 years ago by a group of ministers who felt there was need for an organization to care for homeless children. The agency places children for adoption, cares for unmarried mothers and for babies, places children in investigated and supervised boarding homes and works with problem children in their own home.

Headquarters for the society are at Milwaukee and branch offices are located at Madison, Wausau, Chippewa Falls, Eau Claire and Racine. The new Appleton office is being established because of the increasing amount of work which the agency has undertaken to do in Appleton and Outagamie county, according to Gladys B. Denison, field worker.

Badger Farmers Request Change In Soil Program

Point to Damage Resulting From Spring Ice Blanket

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Despite the successful efforts of Rock county farmers to have the corn limit lifted because of poor crop conditions, Badger county farmers are now seeking a new ruling under the soil conservation program because of damage brought about by spring's ice blanket which covered much of their land.

Through Frank H. Everson, secretary of the Jefferson County Soil Conservation Board of Directors, the county agricultural association has petitioned Senators Robert M. LaFollette of Madison and F. Ryan Duffy of Fond du Lac, Representatives Harry Sauthoff of Madison, and Wallace of Agriculture, Henry Wallace, that a special ruling be made whereby all farmers in that region may classify new seed as a new conserving crop, not doing there is a stand in inspection.

The Jefferson county agricultural association adopted a resolution which has been forwarded to conservation officials here. In it they pointed out that Jefferson and neighboring counties, experienced an ice sheet which destroyed 90 per cent of their conserving acres. Rules now standing they claim, will keep farmers from receiving any but soil building pay-

Passenger Service to be Dropped in 2 Counties

Madison — (P) — Revenues have been insufficient to justify continuance of passenger service on trains operated by the Abnapee and Western and the Kewaunee and Western railroads in Door and Kewaunee counties, the public service commission announced Wednesday.

The commission authorized the two roads, both subsidiaries of the Great Northern, to abandon all passenger accommodations except the weekend sleeping car service during the tourist season. The roads must give notice to the public 10 days before the service is discontinued. The bus lines provide the only passenger service in the two counties, the commission said.

Penalties will cause them to forfeit these payments. They add that there is a shortage of fuel and that previously drought-stricken sections in Wisconsin have had special rulings.

In calling the attention of soil conservation officials to the plight of southern Wisconsin farmers, Sen. Duffy stressed the need for a special ruling because of untoward conditions of last spring.

Defense Is Opened in Trial of John Hunt

Los Angeles — (4) — John Wuest Hunt, retold disciple of Father Divine, Negro cult leader, opened his defense today against federal charges that he brought 17-year-old Delia Jewett, California from Colorado and debauched her. As the government closed its case, Judge Leon Yankwich denied a defense motion for acquittal and commented: "I am satisfied that the facts here are such as to justify the jury in finding all defendants guilty on both counts of the indictment. The evidence shows that Hunt satisfied his lust at the expense of this mere child, keeping up a pretense that it was being done in the name of holy religion."

60 Workers Declare 'Holiday' at Plant

Manitowoc — (4) — Approximately 60 of the 70 employees of the Invaluable Metal Fabrication company took a "holiday" when negotiations over a closed shop, wages and hours broke down here today. The company refused to make a statement. President Clarence Wuellner of the union said an attempt will be made to resume negotiations. Wuellner said the walk-out was not a strike but a "holiday" in protest of the breakdown in bargaining.

Abandon Plans for General Walkout, C.I.O. Leader Asks

by Pine and Walnut streets and through the plant gates for the 7 o'clock shift.

The window of one car was shattered. A large stone struck the side of another automobile as the men went to work under a court order enforced by steel-helmeted national guardsmen.

Pickets Ordered Away
Thirty to 50 pickets were on duty but most were ordered away from the plant gates by police. They complied and the non-strikers, amid two squads of police reserves and the guardsmen, entered without further trouble.

Three rapid fire explosions that were heard for many blocks sent fresh alarm through the city last night. The explosions were near the Republic Steel plant which hundreds of self-interested non-strikers have kept operating despite the strike.

First it was reported an attempt had been made to blow up the plant, but the report was quickly dissipated by a plant official, C. R. Wheeler, who said he believed the explosions were caused by giant fucracracks hurled in the direction of the plant from the Mahoning river or from the opposite bank.

The explosions occurred shortly before midnight in a pile of flue dust and did no damage.

Separate Meetings
President Roosevelt's three-man mediation board at Cleveland redoubled its efforts to bring truce.

A change in the board's procedure was hinted in reports that officials of Inland Steel company, one of the four corporations against whom C. I. O. is striking, would meet with the mediators privately. Afterward the board was to call in the officials of the other three concerns—Republic, Youngstown, Sheet and Tube, and the Bethlehem Steel corporation.

The board realized that before any settlement could be reached it would be necessary to find some angle of compromise on the one point at issue—a signed contract with C. I. O. The four steel companies have said unequivocally that they would not sign a contract with what one steel official—Tom Girdler of Republic Steel—referred to as an "utterly irresponsible" organization.

Won't Abandon Strike
John L. Lewis, the leader of C. I. O., has insisted just as firmly that the strike would go on until the men were given a contract.

At Youngstown the strikers are jubilant over the presence of troops because the soldiers are under orders to keep the four plants of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and Republic Steel closed. Both companies had planned to open Tuesday in response, they said, to petitions from a large number of their employees who want to work.

At Warren, however, the troops are enforcing a court order which calls for disarming of pickets and for guarantees of safety to workers entering or leaving the plant.

The Republic plant announced today that about 2,500 were on the pay roll yesterday, and that $360,000 was paid in wages, compared to a normal $550,000 for the two-week period. The plant is operating on three eight-hour shifts, the same as before the strike was called 29 days ago. Up to yesterday, when it was compelled to work with self-interested employees, the company operated on 12-hour shifts.

"Prisoners' Leave
About 300 of the "voluntary prisoners" left the plant yesterday unmolested. An equal number of non-strikers who previously had been unable to enter because of heavy picket line at the entrance, went into the plant.

Johnstown, Pa., the historic flood city where a C. I. O. strike against a Bethlehem Steel corporation plant brought last week a declaration of "modified" martial law, was quiet on the surface but teeming with petitions.

Two groups circulated papers against the strike and unionists, directed by James Mark, president of District 2 of the C. I. O. United Mine Workers of America, quickly countered with their own petitions asking that the Bethlehem plant be kept closed until the corporation signs a contract.

APPLETON, WISCONSIN, THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1937

Clay Court Champion in Neenah Tennis Tourney

Robert L. Riggs
Is Favored Over
Arthur Hendrix
Latter, Last Year's Champ,
Will Defend His Laurels

NEENAH—Paced by Robert L. Riggs, who won the national clay courts tennis championship this week at Chicago and rates No. 4 nationally and Arthur H. Hendrix, ranked No. 10, the annual Fox River Valley Tennis tournament will open next Monday on the Doty club courts here and continue through the week. Hendrix is the defending champion but is given only a fair chance to repeat with Riggs entered in competition.

Riggs now is considered an outstanding possibility for the American Davis cup team next year and his appearance in the valley probably will be his last in several years. The tournament committee, headed by Hugh Strange, considers it more than fortunate in getting Riggs.

A recent issue of a tennis magazine, in discussing Riggs' activity on the west coast, said of the meets: "Nearly all of these events have been as their common denominator the activities of Bobby Riggs. By winning (four tournaments) from a powerful field, Riggs proved that his game is even better than last year. His match temperament is peculiar in that he seems never to worry about any point but the last one and so gets into some dinged battles."

Riggs' record for last year follows:

Amateur Stars to Play
At B.D.M. Course Sunday

TWO well-known Wisconsin golf stars, Billy Sixty and George Johnson, Jr., will invade Appleton next Sunday for an exhibition match at the Butte des Morts Country club. They will face Everett Leonard, professional, and Ralph A. McGowan, champion of the local club.

Sixty, golf and bowling editor of The Milwaukee Journal, has an impressive tournament record. He was runner-up for the state amateur laurels in 1923, 1924, 1929 and 1936; twice held the Milwaukee county title; held the Milwaukee district title once and was runner-up in 1935; won low amateur honors in the Wisconsin open tournament nine times; was runner-up to Alvin (Butch) Krueger for the state open title last year on the Pine Hills course at Sheboygan and has qualified 14 straight years for the state amateur championship.

Johnson is the present holder of the state amateur championship which he won by defeating Sixty last summer, 2 up. His tournament career began at 16 and he has qualified in six consecutive championship flights. He lives at Oconomowoc and has played for both Merrill Hills, Waubesa, and Westmoor, Milwaukee.

Leonard and McGowan need no introduction to local fans and are prepared for a strong effort to repulse the visitors. The exhibition is free to the public, with the first tee-off scheduled for 2:00 p. m.

Forsters Defeat
Waupaca in 11th

Tie Score at 4-All in Ninth
When Gregorius Hits
Homer

Scoring one run on two doubles in the last of the eleventh inning the Forster Tavern softball team defeated Waupaca here last night under lights at the Forster diamond.

Friday night the Forsters will show against the Koba Tavern team of the American City league.

In last night's game the Forsters scored the first run of the contest in the last of the sixth. Waupaca counted two markers in the first of the seventh and took a 4 to 1 lead in the first of the ninth.

The last of the ninth saw the Forsters even matters when Ves Gregorius, who got four hits in five tries, smacked a homer with two mates on base. The tenth then was scoreless and the eleventh saw the deciding run.

Tesch and Heble toiled on the mound for the winners. Tesch worked nine innings and allowed three hits, four walks and fanned thirteen batters. Heble allowed one hit and fanned four in two frames. Gebheim did the catching.

Waupaca's battery was Kasky and Schilling. Kasky allowed ten hits and fanned ten batters.

Forster hits were four by Ves Gregorius, two by Choudori and one each by R. Dietzen, Gebheim, Tesch and M. Timmers.

I served as a bit of encouragement to Manager Bill Terry today as Carl Hubbell is back on the winning track, recovered from the mysterious non-winning malady that set in the day the Dodgers broke his two-season winning streak at 24 straight.

But the manner in which his Giants went about providing for Hub's ninth victory of the season, his 8-4 conquest of the Chicago Cubs yesterday, was equally heartening to the man whose club is locked in a bitter three-way struggle for mastery of the National league.

Yesterday's performance, in which the Terrymen landed on four of the Cubs' best pitchers, was gratifying to Terry and a warning to the Cubs, out front by one game, and the Cardinals, tied for second with the Giants in the won and lost column.

Berger, before giving way to George Davis, who the Cubs switched from southpaw to right-handed pitching, poled his first Giant homer and sixth of the year. Sam Leslie drove in three runs with a home run and a single and Mel Ott, whose batting slump has been applied to everything but four-baggers, wallowed his twelfth as every man but Dick Bartell, Lou Chiozza and George Davis, who are the only others there are Jimmy Archer, Mordcai Brown, Ward Miller, Clarence Beaumont, Jack McCarthy and Danny Cahill.

Even Hubbell, rapped for twelve hits but scored on only one in the fifth, when five straight hits produced all four Chicago runs, chimed in with two singles to aid his own cause and end a 4-game losing streak while pitching a complete game for the first time in seven starts.

While the Giants were disposing of the league-leaders, the Cards and Dizzy Dean kept pace by turning back the Dodgers, 3-2. Two unearned runs cost Brooklyn the game after Van Mungo, a two-hit pitcher for seven innings, was forced to withdraw because of a blister on the index finger of his salary hand.

Two well-pitched games completed the National league program. Hugh Mulcahy lifted the Phils into sixth place with a four-hit, 3-0 job on the Reds, while young Russ Bauers of the Pirates turned in a six-hitter that was good enough to cost the Reds their eleventh straight loss, by 8-5.

In the American league the front-running Yanks were spilled by the St. Louis Browns, 6-5, but lost no ground as second-place Detroit dropped a 6-5 decision to the Red Sox. The Cleveland Indians continued to suffer their road-trip jitters in a 14-5 parting by the Senators, and the Athletics, who have scored one run in their last three games, sustained their second successive shutout, a 2-0 performance by the White Sox who won on only three hits, two of them homers.

Stan Koska Was Fullback Of Battering-Ram Type

SPORT EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the twelfth of a series on athletic training by Dave Woodward, trainer of the Green Bay Packers, National professional football champions.)

My ninth all-American, Stanley Koska, was selected all-American fullback and was also coached by Bernie Bierman. Koska, a South St. Paul boy was an all-around athlete in high school, playing four years of football and basketball, and was also a one-man track team, putting the shot, throwing the discus, running the 100 and 200 yard dashes, and the relays. He held the Minnesota state high school record for the shot put, putting the shot 51 feet and some odd inches.

Koska attended Oregon university after leaving high school, where he played fullback under Dr. Spears. He came back to Minnesota to finish college and had two years of athletic competition there.

He hadn't played long at Minnesota before it was easy to see that he was going to enter the hall of fullback fame that Minnesota is noted for.

Battering-Ram Type
Koska was the battering-ram type of fullback, and this, coupled with his speed in the open field, made him the ideal fullback for Bierman's style of play.

Although not a great blocker, his speed combined with his weight and size made him a good man to have in front of a runner for interference.

I was always glad to see Stan, as he was called, come into the training room, though he seldom needed to come in for treatments, but his good spirit and downing tactics were a great help in keeping up the morale and spirits of his teammates who were injured.

Not only was he liked by his teammates and classmates, but he became so popular in the village where he resided, that he was asked to run for mayor by the people of that community. He had to refuse this, as football and studies took up too much of his time.

While attending Minnesota he was a regular member of the Varsity baseball team, and his play was so outstanding, especially his hitting that he received an offer from one of the big league baseball clubs to join them. He also saw fit to refuse this.

Pro Football Offer
He had an offer for a prominent coaching position, and has had offers to play professional ball. What he intends to do about these offers, we may hear of later.

Koska was a good example for a college man, as he had about everything that it requires to make his way. He was a good natured fellow off the field and a tough, hard-fighting, courageous man while playing football.

Koska was also picked as a member of the 1935 All-Star team, and was going places in practice while training for that game. He seemed a sure starter, but received an injury to his shoulder that required more time to heal, so that he only played part of the game. I am sure that except for this injury, he would have been a sensation in that All-Star game, because Koska, in good playing condition, was practically unstoppable.

New Heavy Champion Is Looking for Work; Will Visit at Detroit Home

BY EARL HILLIGAN
CHICAGO—(AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis is looking for work—"an lot of it!"

The new ruler of ringdom, by virtue of his eighth round knock-out of James J. Braddock last Tuesday night, which increased his already fat personal bankroll by about $50,000, isn't worrying about where his next meal is coming from. Nor is he planning on going into hiding with his new crown.

"Long layoffs don't do me no good," said Joe as he packed his grips preparatory to leaving tonight for Detroit and a visit with his mother. "I want to fight as often as my managers want me to. I'd like first to meet Max Schmeling, but that's up to them to figure out."

The way things shape up, Joe won't have to worry about too-long layoffs. Mike Jacobs, the New York promoter who staged Tuesday's title bout, yesterday announced a two-year extension of his contract with the 23-year-old titleholder. The extension gives Jacobs exclusive rights to the Negro's services for the next five years.

A clause in the new agreement provides for as many as four fights a year, with the probability that Louis will see action at least twice annually. Jacobs' principal concern now is landing one more fight this year, in the big objective being a Louis-Schmeling bout in September, in New York. He said Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Chicago and London were bidding to put the young champion in action.

Jacobs also disclosed he has effected a three-year agreement for the fighting services of the ex-champion, Braddock. Concurring in Braddock's opinion that he is not "through," the promoter hopes to land a suitable opponent for Jersey Jim in the fall or early winter, preferably Max Baer.

Jacobs will remain here two or three days, winding up final business of the bout, expected to re-promote a promotional profit of about $100,000. He estimated about 50,000 spectators were in the White Sox park, including police, employees and holders of complimentary tickets. The paid attendance was 14,661, with gross receipts $715,420.54, including $73,000 from radio and film rights.

Braddock, who spent yesterday resting up at a southside hotel, left early today with Mrs. Braddock for their New Jersey home. The ex-champion was in good spirits, contending that with two more tough fights he'd be ready to meet Louis again. Physically, however, he still showed vividly the effects of Louis' terrific punching. One eye was still closed while below and above it were two bad cuts. Ten stitches had to be taken in his upper lip.

White Sox Get $29,000
From Heavyweight Bout
Chicago—(AP)—Lou Comiskey, president of the Chicago White Sox baseball company, received $29,669 as rental fee for Comiskey park, scene of Tuesday night's world's heavyweight title between James J. Braddock and Joe Louis. Comiskey was guaranteed five per cent of net receipts, which came to $333,380.80, and to his "take" from the right is added the by-product of profits from the park concessions.

Woman Assemblyman Criticizes Orators For 'Long Speeches'

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The casual on-looker in the gallery seldom realize that the state assembly includes in its membership a woman, courteously referred to by her 99 male colleagues as "the lady from Milwaukee."

Yesterday the lady from Milwaukee did get some notice when in a determined, although shrill voice, she criticized the male members for their long speeches and "waste of time."

Stung by her words, gallant assemblymen showed no inclination to argue the point for a few minutes. Finally Albert D. Shimek, bachelor Kewaunee county assemblyman, countered: "that statement comes with poor grace from the lady from Milwaukee. If the rest of us had been here as little this session we wouldn't have done anything yet."

The lady in question, Mrs. Mary Kryszak, did not reply. Shimek's shot went home.

CHAMPS TO SHOW
Milwaukee—Elusive stars who hold official and unofficial world records will compete in the National A.A.U. track and field championships at the Marquette university stadium, July 2 and 3. MURDER ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS First it is the mysterious shooting to death of attractive Jude Blinshop which makes us all jittery on this wild, stormy weekend at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts. Then a series of strange attacks occurs. Present are: Mike the Skipper, his tall, tweedy younger aunt, Aunt Martha, stout and prudish; Gay Palmer, Mike's red-headed sweetheart; myself and the four servants. It is a relief to find the body of Michael's insane father, supposedly long since dead, below the bluff; it explains so much that has happened.

Chapter 27
"The Danger's Not Over"
"What's the matter, Higgins?" He was still white.

"I'd like to talk to you a minute, sir. Somewhere where we can't be heard."

I stared at him. "What about? There's no one to hear us, Higgins. What's on your mind?"

"Would you come into the living room, sir?"

Reflecting that the poor old boy probably wanted to relieve his mind by telling me his version of the story, I followed him into the living room.

"Well, what is it, Higgins?"

"Mr. Jummie, the Farringtons have always been almost like my own family, as you might say. The old gentleman was very good to me when I was just a boy, sir, and alone in this country, if you see what I mean."

I smiled at him reassuringly. "I see what you mean. They've been pretty swell to me, too." What the deuce ailed him? If he trusted me enough to tell me the story, why all the preliminaries?

"This affair has been most unfortunate, sir."

My patience was getting a bit thin. I had many things to say to Michael, and I wanted to say them before he had soaked himself into a complete stupor. I frowned.

I said sharply, "What's on your mind?"

"Mr. Jummie," he stepped closer to me and spoke in a hoarse whisper. "The danger's not over. There's—"

He stopped suddenly, and an amazing thing happened. His eyes, fixed on the window behind me, seemed about to pop from his head and under my very nose the man seemed to shrivel up. I wheeled toward the window. There was no one there, and my patience snapped.

"Higgins, what the devil are you looking at? What are you talking about?"

He passed a trembling hand over his eyes. "I don't know, possibly, sir. I—I have been 'maiming' things. Please forget it, sir." With a certain dignity he straightened himself.

Exasperated beyond all endurance, I fairly roared at him to speak his piece.

"Nothing, sir. I have been forgetting myself. Please excuse me."

I made a wild lunge, but he got to the door before I did. Crossing to the window, I leaned against it, staring out at the dismal lawn, my brain in an uproar.

Footprint on the Tile
"The danger's not over." What did that remark have to do with the depressing secret of Farrington Bluff? What? My eyes had fallen to the tile on the porch floor just outside the window. There, clearly defined in ramified hardening mud was the imprint of a rubber boot. Higgins had seen someone at that window—someone who might or might not have heard what he was starting to say! The wild thought crossed my mind that maybe he was right—that there was more trouble to come, but I rejected it impatiently. What a hair-trigger state we had all gotten into! I went off in search of Michael.

He was not in his room. A disorderly confusion of clothes, books and papers gave mute testimony to his state of mind, and a nearly empty decanter of brandy told me that the Skipper's fears for him that he wasn't downstairs. There were no footprints outside the living room window and then of Norman Farrington lying halfway down the bluff, Farrington Bluff was no place for a drunken man—particularly a drunken man in Michael's frame of mind.

In a vain hope of finding him, I rushed through the bathroom into my own room. He wasn't there. And I was reasonably certain that he wasn't downstairs. There were only two possibilities. Either he must be in talking to the Skipper or he must be outside. I rushed into the hall and raced with all my might to the Skipper's door. Without waiting to knock, I flung it open. The Skipper's oilskins lay on the bed and her boots on the floor beside them, but there was no one in the room. I had barely time to realize that fact, when a deafening report of a gun shook the entire house.

For a second I was too petrified to move. The sound had seemed to come from the direction of the next room—M. Farrington's. I dove through the joining bathroom and pulled up with a bang.

M. Farrington lay face downward on the floor beside the dressing table, one arm thrown out at her side. As I dazedly knelt to turn her over, the hall door flew open to disclose Michael, his eyes red and bleary, blinking at me in amazement. We stared at each other.

"She's hurt! Get some water!" I managed finally through stiff lips.

He hesitated, and I sensed more distrust in that pause than I could see on his incredulous face. His eyes fell and he moved unsteadily toward the bathroom. I wrenched my attention from my own appalling predicament to the old lady.

She was alive. A bullet had torn through her left shoulder. Michael—I noted that the hat had been shot from the rear at close range. There were powder marks on the back of her lavender robe and the profuse bleeding in front seemed to indicate that the bullet had torn straight through. So Higgins had been right! We were still in danger!

Clumsily Mike deposited a basin of water beside me. He seemed hypnotized, incapable of speech and I was glad of it.

"Find the Skipper," I said hoarsely, starting to bathe the wound with my handkerchief. "Hurry. Make her heart's bad and—"

The Skipper was there beside me before he could seem to move. Her face was grim and set.

"Give me that J.M.," she said sternly, kneeling beside me. "There's a first-aid kit in the bathroom. Get it, please."

Higgins At The Keyhole
I got up with difficulty. I couldn't seem to get my mind away from the fact that I would be suspected of this shooting. It took me at least three minutes to find the first-aid kit in the cabinet over the basin. While I was fumbling around in the process I could hear Gay's high excited voice. The thing must have been heard all over the house. In another minute the servants would be tumbling in on us. Vaguely I wondered, as I crossed the few steps

Rebuilding of Central Block Begun This Week

Will be Ready for Occupancy Before End of Summer

Kaukauna — Rebuilding of the Central Block, business building badly damaged by fire March 24, will be completed far enough to permit business occupants to move in before August 1, Henry Olm, trustee of the Farmers and Merchants bank segregated trust fund, owners of the building, said today.

Clean-up work is in progress this week on the roof, which was completely destroyed, and on the second floor, which was badly damaged. Damage to the first floor was mostly by water, as the fire was confined to the second story of the structure.

Plans for rebuilding the roof are being drawn up by Smith and Brandt, architects, and will be ready before the end of the week for submission to the state industrial commission at Madison. With the approval of the plans, construction of the roof will be pushed rapidly so that workmen can begin reconditioning the interior of the building, Olm said.

Repainting
As damage to the first floor business places was done mostly by water, Olm explained, work in them will consist mostly in cleaning up and repainting. When the roof is completed, this work will be started. Plans for the rebuilding in the second story, where the damage was greatest, call for the preparing of two office suites. The greater part of the floor, which had previously been living quarters and a lodge meeting hall will not be completely refinished. When an applicant rents this section of the building, the place will be arranged and finished according to his needs.

No general contract is being let for the work, but various contracts for the different divisions of it will be let.

Candidates to Oppose Mayor in Recall Election Being Selected

Kaukauna — Voters who have not yet cast their ballots have until 8 o'clock tonight to take part in the primary for the city recall election today.

Only two names appear on the ballot, those of William Gantner and Louis Nelson, and the one winning this primary election will oppose Mayor John Niesen in the final vote at the polls July 8 as the state law requires that only one candidate may oppose a mayor in a recall election.

Indications early in the day did not point to a heavy vote, but balloting was expected to increase in the late afternoon and before closing the polls.

Activity prior to the election has not been great, Nelson confining his campaigning to several advertised statements in the local newspaper, and Gantner carrying on his campaign in a house to house distribution of hand bills.

City Clerk Lester Brenzel reports that 28 absentee voters' ballots had been issued to persons outside the city today, and of these 15 were already in his hands this morning.

Polling places for the election are: First ward, Sarah street; Second ward, Doty street; Third ward, Hendricks avenue; and the Fourth and Fifth wards, Dodge street. The polls opened at 6 o'clock this morning and will close at 8 this evening.

Rotarians Hear Of Developments In Radio Field

Importance of Educational Programs Stressed By Organist

Kaukauna — "Radio has a more definite place than to furnish music while people talk", Ralph Waldo Emerson, WLS organist, told members of the Rotary club at their Wednesday noon meeting at the Hotel Kaukauna, as he outlined new plans for radio development, particularly in education.

Emerson, known as the man who makes the funny noises on the organ on WLS programs, surprised the Rotarians somewhat when he told them of experiments that are being made in radio in education, of the influence of advertisers on the development of radio, and of the importance of fan mail to the performers.

He is visiting in Kaukauna this week at the Arthur Look residence with Mrs. Emerson, the former Elsie Mae Look of Kaukauna, and their two young sons. At WLS Emerson is music director of the educational movement.

"Our early efforts seem childish, as I look back at the time when I started in radio 14 years ago," he said. "People were content just to hear a station. We never watched after a four days' absence. He was confined to his home with an injury caused by a foreign obstacle lodging in his eye.

the clock, and did pretty much improvising."

The important part of present radio development, he said, is the educational movement. An educational program was begun last year, unheralded, as an experiment, and when it was discontinued this month for the summer, single programs had drawn as many as 3,500 letters.

"We present four 15-minute programs a week, each one different, and we try to present them in some novel way so that school children won't say 'Aw, here comes that radio lesson again'. One program a week is on music. On another day we interview consultants from foreign countries. Then we take a trip through some industrial plant. Another type we used was a program on unusual things and persons."

"A day spent on vocational direction will be added to the schedule in fall. Employers will be interviewed over the air to tell the children what one must know or do to hold certain jobs," he said.

Watch Clock
The speaker told how the advertiser had taught radio performers to watch the clock, and to prepare their material accurately for time. They are now allowed only 15 seconds divergence from schedule.

"Advertising keeps the radio pulse beating," he said, "and public opinion keeps the advertising in its right place on the program."

Fan mail is highly regarded, he explained, as it is the gauge of a performer's success.

"If you ever hear a 'mail plug' on a program, the performer has reached the sink-or-swim stage of his career."

He concluded by asking the members to help radio in education by making suggestions to radio stations and by giving old radio sets to schools that need them.

carefully avoiding direct contact with the gun. I managed to take it, handkerchief and all, without touching the metal. Furiously I hurried questions at him. No results that meant anything.

Cook was in the kitchen. He was sure of it because she had been there when he answered Miss Barbara's ring and both William and Annie were certain that she had not come up the back stairs. They had just left him. They claimed to have been in their rooms when they heard the shot, and he believed that they were because they had not been in the kitchen when the Skipper rang. They appeared immediately after the shot was heard. It was all very upsetting, just when I had been sure that the trouble was all over. He would very much like to know what had happened.

"Someone shot and painfully wounded Miss Farrington," I said bluntly.

He staggered back against the wall. "Painfully wounded," he repeated in a thin whisper. "Painfully—"

A thought was dawning in my head. "Merely a flesh wound," I said deliberately, with my eyes on his face. "She's quite conscious and there's no danger."

It didn't work. His eyes were on the floor, his face expressionless. "Copyright, 1937, Esther Tyler"

June 30 Is End Of Tax Payment Extension Period

Kaukauna — Less than a week remains before the deadline June 30 for payment of the 40 per cent tax balance for persons who received an extension on payments in March. Mrs. Mary Hooyman, city treasurer said today.

About two hundred tax payers have taken advantage of the privilege of paying 60 per cent of their assessment before March 21 and the remaining 40 per cent before July 1. A 1 per cent penalty is attached to the payment of the last tax installment under this system, the treasurer explained.

The tax payment extension was approved by the city council last spring, in accordance with the state law which makes it optional for cities to grant this privilege. Taxes not fully paid by the deadline will not go on the delinquent list until the spring of 1938, under this system.

Club Hears Talk By Architect on New Courthouse

Sandstedt Describes Building to Neenah Kiwanis Group

Neenah—Location of the jail on the fifth and top floor, elevator service, specially styled furniture and sculpture work over the four entrances portraying the history of Winnebago county were some of the features of the new courthouse as described to the Neenah Kiwanis club by Julius Sandstedt, Chicago architect, at a noon luncheon at Valley Inn yesterday.

Sandstedt, who represents the firm of Grange and Bollenbacher, architects for the $1,000,000 structure, explained methods employed in building the courthouse which was started last fall and described its various units.

"We think we are putting up the finest building that has been constructed in the Midwest," he said. "From a safety standpoint, it is far over the requirements set by code."

Contemporary Style
He termed the style of the building "contemporary" and said that it represented a "modified form of design with a classical background."

There are no columns for ornamental purposes, only the sculptural work over the four entrances which, he said, will be done by a famous sculptor whose name I cannot reveal yet."

The sculptor will begin work in about a month. Sandstedt suggested the Kiwanis visit the building site while the artist is there.

Seeking to avoid as much walking as possible, the architects have designed the building so that the offices visited most frequently by the public will be on the first floor. Here the offices of the county clerk, county treasurer, relief unit, and other important departments will be located.

The county municipal and juvenile courts will be on the second floor and the circuit court, attorneys' rooms, and jury rooms on the third.

County Board Meets
Sessions of the county board of supervisors will be held on the fourth floor and the law library will be situated there. One-half of the space on this floor will be given to future expansion.

"The jail on the fifth floor will be set back from the main line of the building so that from the street it will not be most frequently seen," he said. Sandstedt said, "Kitchen for feeding prisoners will be installed on that floor."

Sheriff's quarters will be set up in the basement, according to Sandstedt, and an elevator used only by this department will carry prisoners and officers to the courtroom and jail upstairs. Another elevator will operate in the building for use by clients and office workers and facilities provided for third in case it is needed later.

Sees Much Work
The office of the agricultural agent and the vaults for the new filing system will be in the basement. "The installation of a new filing system will mean a tremendous amount of work for office forces," he said.

About 90 per cent of the furniture throughout the building will be made of wood, Sandstedt said, and will be of an individual design drawn by the architects.

Ornamental metal work in the building will be bronze. The corridors will be lined with marble and the floors made of terrazzo. A new convenience for courthouse clients and workers will be the private telephone exchange which will be installed. Besides facilitating service between the courthouse and the outside, it will make it possible to make calls without the building without going first to the central exchange, Sandstedt pointed out.

Cheap But Good
The architect explained to the Neenah club the skeleton type of reinforced concrete frame which is being used in the courthouse. This rib-slab construction is one of the cheapest forms, he said, but also one of the most satisfactory. He described the location of the building as being "particularly fortunate" because of the firm soil underneath. "It is almost as good as a rock foundation," he said.

The dead air space in the walls will serve as an effective insulation against summer's heat and winter's cold, he said. The building is ready for air conditioning. All that it needs is a refrigeration plant which can be installed when and if the county wants it.

In illustrating the enormous amounts of material that are going into the building, Sandstedt drew the following picture:
The 5,200 cubic yards of concrete, if made into one column three feet square, would reach a mile into the air.

If the 390 tons of reinforcing steel which are going into the building were thrown back into the blast furnace and turned out in a one-inch square bar, this bar would reach 44 miles.

There are 500,000 mud bricks and 75,000 face bricks going into the building. Fifty carloads of exterior stone will be put up over a period of 50 days.

Aldermen Said to be Drilling For War on the Rope Saturday

Menasha—Rumors that several aldermen have been holding secret practice for the tug-of-war contests which will be held during the annual picnic for city employees Saturday are circulating about the city.

It has not been definitely established what training methods are being used, but one story has it that an alderman broke his wife's clothesline trying to pull a tree down and that another has been seen working in his garden this week for the first time this year.

The general consensus among city employees was to discount the rumors, and to scoff at any alleged prowess on the part of the council.

"If those fellows beat the commissioners and meet us, we'll pull them out of their shoes," one employee is reported to have declared. "Out of their socks, too," another one was quoted as adding.

But whether the rumors are solid truth or an example of subtle war propaganda released to demoralize the enemy, the fact remains that both the aldermen and commissioners will have to be in fine fettle Saturday. The employees have juggled the events on the program so that they meet the winner of the council-commissions tug-of-war almost as soon as the test is over, leaving little or no space for recuperation.

The picnic will be officially opened at 12:55 Saturday afternoon with the shooting of a bomb at city square. Mayor Walter E. Held and Carl Heckrodt, city treasurer, will then be escorted by police to the municipal bathing beach where the picnic will be held.

The contests will be started at 2 o'clock, suspended at 5 o'clock when the supper at which Mayor Held will speak will be served, and resumed in the evening. Climax of the outing will be the awarding prizes at 6:30.

City officials, employees, and their families will attend Saturday's picnic. Last year there were about 60 paid admissions.

Single Hurdle in Path of Approval For WDA Measure

Madison—(P)—Contrary to usual seasonal change, Wisconsin factories decreased employment by 1.3 per cent and corresponding pay rolls by 0.7 per cent from April 15 to May 15, the state industrial commission reported today.

"Factory employment had increased for nine successive months before May, 1937, when a noticeable recession in employment set in, augmented by numerous layoffs because of strikes," the commission said. "However, factory employment in Wisconsin increased 16.1 per cent, and corresponding monthly pay rolls increased 34.3 per cent from May, 1936, to May, 1937."

The usual change between April and May, based on records of the last 15 years, is an increase of 0.5 per cent in employment and an increase of 1.7 per cent in total pay rolls, the commission reported.

"The average earnings of factory workers amounted to $26.45 per week in May, 1937, as compared with $22.51 in May, 1936," the report continued. "Per capita earnings averaged $3.61 per week more in May of this year than in May last year."

"For the city of Milwaukee, total factory employment increased 14.2 per cent, and corresponding pay rolls increased 34.5 per cent during the year. Factory workers in Milwaukee averaged $38.41 during May of this year as compared with $24.29 during May of last year."

The decline in Milwaukee factory employment between April 15 and May 15 based on reports from 469 establishments having 78,990 employees in May 15, was 1.2 per cent, corresponding pay rolls decreased 1.3 per cent.

"Factory workers in Wisconsin averaged 42.3 hours of work per week during May, 1937, as compared with 40.8 hours per week in May, 1936," the commission said. "The recovery in industrial employment was accompanied by substantial gains in retail trade."

Signature Certain
Governor LaFollette's approval is assured since the measure had the endorsement of the executive office. The opponents, in a last stand, offered three substitutes, all of which were rejected. Two of them by Assemblyman James T. Cavanaugh (D), Antigo, and Henry E. Krueger (D), Beaver Dam, would have limited the WDA powers to the field of rural electrification.

The other by Assemblyman Elmer Genzmer (D), Mayville, would have increased the state appropriation to the WDA from $60,000 to $300,000 a year and would have placed a $100,000,000 limit on its bonding powers.

Assemblyman Andrew J. Biemiller (D), Milwaukee, co-author of the original proposal, charged the Genzmer amendment was intended to limit the measure.

Points of order raised by Assemblyman Maurice Fitzsimons (D), Fond du Lac, against further progress of the bill all were rejected by Speaker Paul Alfonsi, and the sponsors shut off debate by moving the previous question.

Resume Battle Against Producer-Owned Theaters

Madison—Independent theater owners renewed their efforts yesterday to "divorce" movie producers from the field of film exhibition in Wisconsin and in turn were described by chain theater spokesmen as "cross story-tellers."

Ray Tesch, business manager of the Independent Theater Owners association of Wisconsin, told the joint finance committee a bill levying a graduated occupational tax of theater seats would stop "chain expansion."

He said statistics compiled by the producers showed 48 per cent of the 230,000 seats and 27 per cent of the theaters in Wisconsin owned by producers and affiliates.

Benjamin J. Miller, spokesman for the Fox-Wisconsin and Warner-Saxe theaters, called the proposal a "subterfuge to divert a so-called monopoly over to the independents."

Menasha Eagles Will Meet Green Bay Team

Menasha—After losing two games to the Neenah Merchants last Sunday and sliding from second place to fourth in the Northern Valley league the last two weeks, the Menasha Eagles are gunning for the Green Bay team they will play Sunday at Washington park. Neenah.

Handicapped by lack of practice due to poor diamond conditions, the Menasha team has lost its last three games. Mainly through the pitching of Buster Brown, the Eagles set back Green Bay 3-2 in their first meeting.

Vanden Boom will be on the mound for Green Bay when Sunday's game is called at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Washer Tournney Being Planned

Playground Program Will Be Started Friday on All Grounds

Neenah — A washer tournament for Neenah children will be started at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at all Neenah playgrounds. Armin Gerhardt, playground director, announced today.

The tournament will be conducted for two groups of boys, those 12 years of age and under and those 15 years of age and under. The washer game is similar to horseshoe but is played with washers and cans instead of shoes and stakes. The washers are tossed at a can embedded in the ground. Similar rules govern the play.

Playground champions will then compete in a round robin tournney at the various playgrounds. Monday the meet will be held at Washington park, Tuesday at the Greens and Wednesday at Doly park to name a city champion.

Baseball tryouts for playground teams will be conducted next week at the various parks. The boys will work in three age groups, those 12 and under, those 15 and under and those 18 and under. Prospective players must have reached the age limit by Jan. 1, the director said.

Wading pools for the children have been filled at the parks and men have been put in charge to protect the youngsters. With the wave of unusually hot weather, attendance at the municipal bathing beach has doubled. An extra life guard has been employed to watch small children.

Girl Hurt When Hit With Baseball Bat

Neenah—Angeline Timbelis, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Timbelis, 105 E. Wisconsin avenue, suffered a laceration above the left eye Wednesday when she was struck with a baseball bat while watching a game at Columbus park. She was taken to a local physician where several stitches were taken. The youngster had been watching the game when a bat slipped out of the hands of one of the players and struck her above the eye.

Martin Kuehler was in charge of the camp warehouse.

Harvey Anderson was in charge of crafts department at camp and the boys made sailing boats, kites, paper cut-outs and carved models of animals.

Neenah Merchants To Offer Bid for First Place Knot

To Battle Northern Valley Leaders at Oshkosh Sunday

Neenah—Neenah Merchants will make a bid to tie for first place in the Northern Valley league when they cross bats with Oshkosh Sunday afternoon at the Oshkosh baseball park.

The Indians are in first place with seven wins and one loss against six wins and two losses for the Neenah team. A win Sunday will put the Merchants on the top rung with Oshkosh.

After winning a doubleheader from the Menasha Eagles last Sunday to take over second place, the Merchants feel confident of a win over Oshkosh. The Eagles had a chance at second place but failed to take advantage in the twin bill.

Orv Schultz will probably toe the mound for the Merchants with Bob Jerome in reserve. Both boys hurled fine games against Menasha last Sunday and seem to have plenty on the ball. Louis Gammy will replace Bill Handler behind the log in Sunday's tilt. Halder split a finger last Sunday and will be out for about three weeks.

Practice sessions are being held at Washington park each evening and the boys are really pointing for a championship this year. A tentative lineup includes: J. Christoferson, short stop; H. Cheslock, left field; K. Handler, second base; L. Gammy, catch; B. Jerome, first base; E. Gartzke, third base; G. Haufe, center field; O. Schultz, pitcher; and M. Olson, right field.

Neenah Man Grows Onions From Chemicals, Believe It or Not

Neenah—Growing onions in 10 days from chemicals may sound like a "believe it or not" story but Paul Radtke, 509 Lincoln street, has done it and his family and friends find that the onions are milder than onions grown in the ordinary way. Mr. Radtke is also experimenting with growing lettuce and tomatoes in chemicals but hasn't had the success he hoped for because the chemical solution was not up to par. He has had fun with his hobby though and plans to continue his experiments until he really has "bigger and better" tomatoes that don't need soil to grow.

It was really Dr. Gericke, professor at the University of California, who experimented with analyzing the complete plant and the soil chemically to see what made it grow and then mixed up those chemical ingredients and tried growing the plants in the chemical. Buy Chemicals

It remained for Technocracy Inc., believing in the scientific approach, to purchase some of these chemical preparations and sell them to members of the order throughout the United States as an experimental project.

About 30 persons in the Twin Cities purchased the powdered chemicals but very few have carried out the garden project.

Neighbors and friends of Mr. Radtke laughed and scoffed when he took some gasoline barrels, cleaned them, cut them in half, and proceeded to experiment with the chemical process of growing vegetables. A lattice work screen was placed in the barrel near the top and the plants placed in sawdust or excelsior over the top of the screen. In the case of the lettuce, the seeds were spread out on a burlap piece on top of the screen. Underneath the lattice work is water that contains the chemical powder and outside the barrel is a tall bottle of water with a siphon going into the barrel that serves as a water leveler.

Need Small Space

Mr. Radtke raised 272 onion plants in a space that was 21 inches in diameter. He has about a dozen tomatoe plants growing in another barrel but he isn't very pleased with them because they aren't growing as rapidly as they should. In the experiments of the California professor, potatoes were grown, 4,300 bushels to an acre, under this process and 4,300 bushels of tomatoes were raised in an acre, alleged to be 17 times better production than can be obtained in soil. In one of the spring issues of a well known monthly magazine an article about Dr. Gericke and his experiments was featured.

Mr. Radtke's experiments are on a small scale and are done largely as a hobby. Next year he plans to experiment more extensively.

After attending the Washington gathering, Spender will go to the world jamboree in Holland. All the Menasha scouts plan to spend a couple days in New York after leaving Washington.

Early Advances In Wheat More Than Wiped Out Up Over Cent at One Time But Closes Lower Than Wednesday

Chicago — (AP) — Wheat fluctuated nervously today, advancing more than a cent a bushel at one stage but then losing this to close below yesterday's finish.

Hedging pressure and profit taking contributed to the persistent selling while high temperatures in some sections of the grain belt, better than 3 cents up in Liverpool wheat and reports of failure of the wheat crop in parts of southwestern Saskatchewan and in stretches of the domestic northwest helped buying.

July corn was lifted more than 2 cents at one stage to $1.20 a bushel. Wheat closed unchanged to 1 lower, July 1.13-1.14, September 1.13-1.14, and corn was 1 off to 2 cents higher, July new 1.13-1.14, September 1.04-1.05. Oats were 1 off to 1 up, July soybeans advanced the limit of 4 cents a bushel.

Curb Shares Slightly

Higher in Quiet Trade

New York — (P) — Prices moved a trifle higher in the curb market today as activity dropped to an unusually slow pace.

Most changes were for small fractions as the session moved toward the close. Technical and American Gas and Electric stock went up with gains of major fractions while minor improvement was shown by Creole Petroleum, United Gas, Hudson Bay Mining and Niagara Hudson Power.

Newmont Mining lost a major fraction and Gulf Oil lowered a bit.

Erratic Tendencies

Rule Bond Dealings

New York — (P) — Uneven price swings ruffled the surface of an otherwise tranquil bond market today.

Minor variations showed for most of the trading favorites.

Western Unions 5s again proved to be a sore spot, losing 5 points or so on fears already high operating costs might be boosted should employees demand and gain a wage increase.

U. S. governments were mostly lower, but recessions were modest.

Foreigns moved unevenly on light trading.
